HI-WAY '68

St. Joseph's High School
South Bend, Indiana
Volume 15
1968

Pathway To Success

Each person has a purpose in life: to explore, and to build character. More than this, each student must develop an independence. St. Joseph's High School assists everyone in attaining his goal. Academically, St. Joe is second to none. And as for building character, our school rates number one.

The 1968 HI-WAY wishes to convey each aspect of school life and show the many different paths to follow. Whether it be sports, social activities or academics, the yearbook symbolizes the entire year and each page represents a path. Every page informs the student through pictures as well as the copy. The book gives the student a chance to scan the year and take a look into his future. Would athletics be the right career for me? Or should I put my talent to the field of medicine? Yet it is not our intention to hinder the student's independence. HI-WAY '68 merely shows the pathways.

To choose the right career promises a successful life; successful in that you as an individual have consciously accomplished your goal. St. Joseph's catholic education helps a student develop an independence, be ready to choose a career, and follow the right "Pathways to Success."

Junior Prom Spotlight Centers On Impressive Spanish Decor

The theme of the 1967 Junior Prom was "Moonlight in Madrid." Members of the Junior Class and their guests found that the setting of LeMans Hall, coupled with the melodies of the Bob Roberts' Society Band, provided the perfect atmosphere for the highlight of the year.

Committee chairmen Joe Heintzelman and Mary Ann Hess co-ordinated matters for the social occasion.

At the climax of the evening, Melissa McCauslin and Wally Cernak were crowned king and queen. Other court members were: Mary Ann Hess, Tim Farrar, Celeste Fredlake, Mark Policinski, Rita Gearhart, John Sullivan, Marty Stuglik and Mike Peiffer.

To accent the theme, a Spanish fountain and attractive fence-work were utilized by the decorations committee.

'Through The Looking Glass' Sets Mood For Mid-Winter Formal

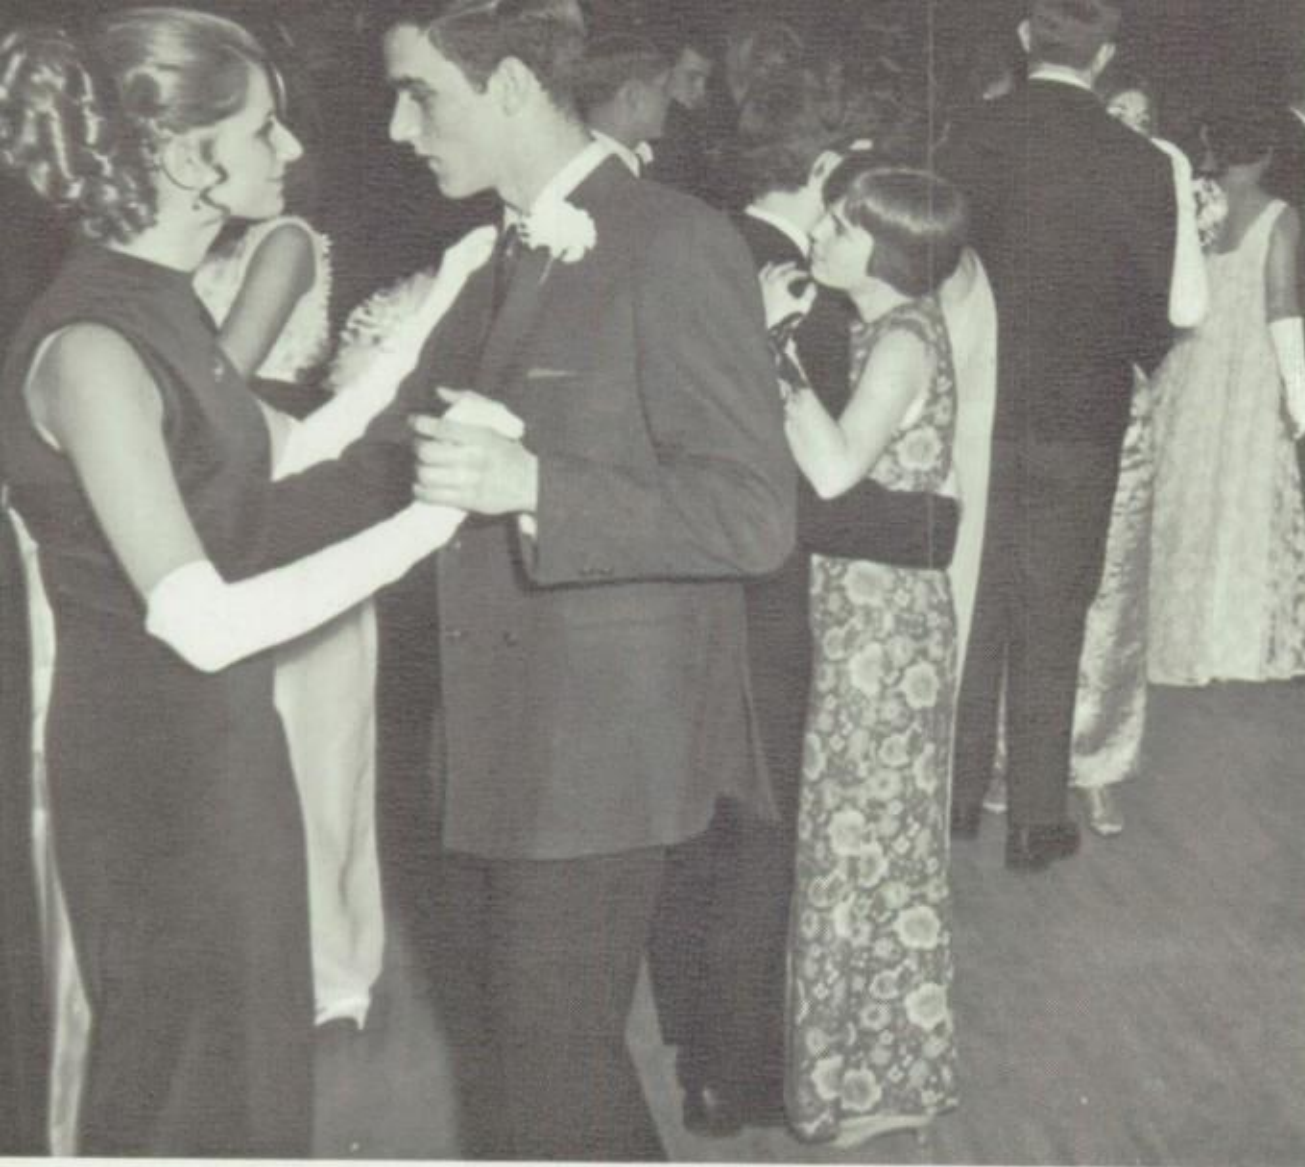

Nine to midnight . . . magic hours of enchanting experience. Paul Miller and the Softwinds propel soothing tunes across the crowded dance floor. Gigantic replicas of playing cards backdrop the gay court.

Brainstormed from Alice in Wonderland, "Through the Looking Glass" was a tremendously enjoyable venture. A mock-up tree entrance, paper mache toadstools, and other artifacts created this whimsical digression from scholastic concerns. Imitation rabbits and clay mushroom plants served as souvenirs of the occasion.

Student Dance Attendance Grows With Basketball Win Streak

Dances were few and far between on this year's social calendar, but quality was substituted for quantity. Combined with original decorations, the top bands in the city proved to be crowd pleasers at the school's soc hops.

The seniors, put in charge of Football Homecoming, hired the Traces of Time to fill the gym with wailing harmony. On that October 28th, a fascinating arrangement of streamers keyed the affair.

Next, the student council sponsored an all-school mixer. The Shaggs were contracted to provide the musical diversion.

Following the December 16th basketball game with Fort Wayne Bishop Luers, the group known as the Yellow Field entertained the socializers who commemorated the first home game for the sport in the 1967-1968 basketball season.

THE MUSIC of The Half Dozen provides entertainment for Roger Koeper and Pat Berger at a soc hop in the St. Joe Gym.

"LITTLE BIT OF SOUL", a fast number, sends Dick Hastings into orbit as Dianne Chambers gazes at the band playing onstage. The Knight Raiders provided the big beat.

EXHAUSTEDLY CONGREGATING in front of the stage before a break, worshipers study the unique style of the Shaggs, N.D.-based rock group.

HAPPINESS IS a slow number for Marge Kujawski and Craig Hartzer. The scene: "Checkerboard Madness" of January 12th.

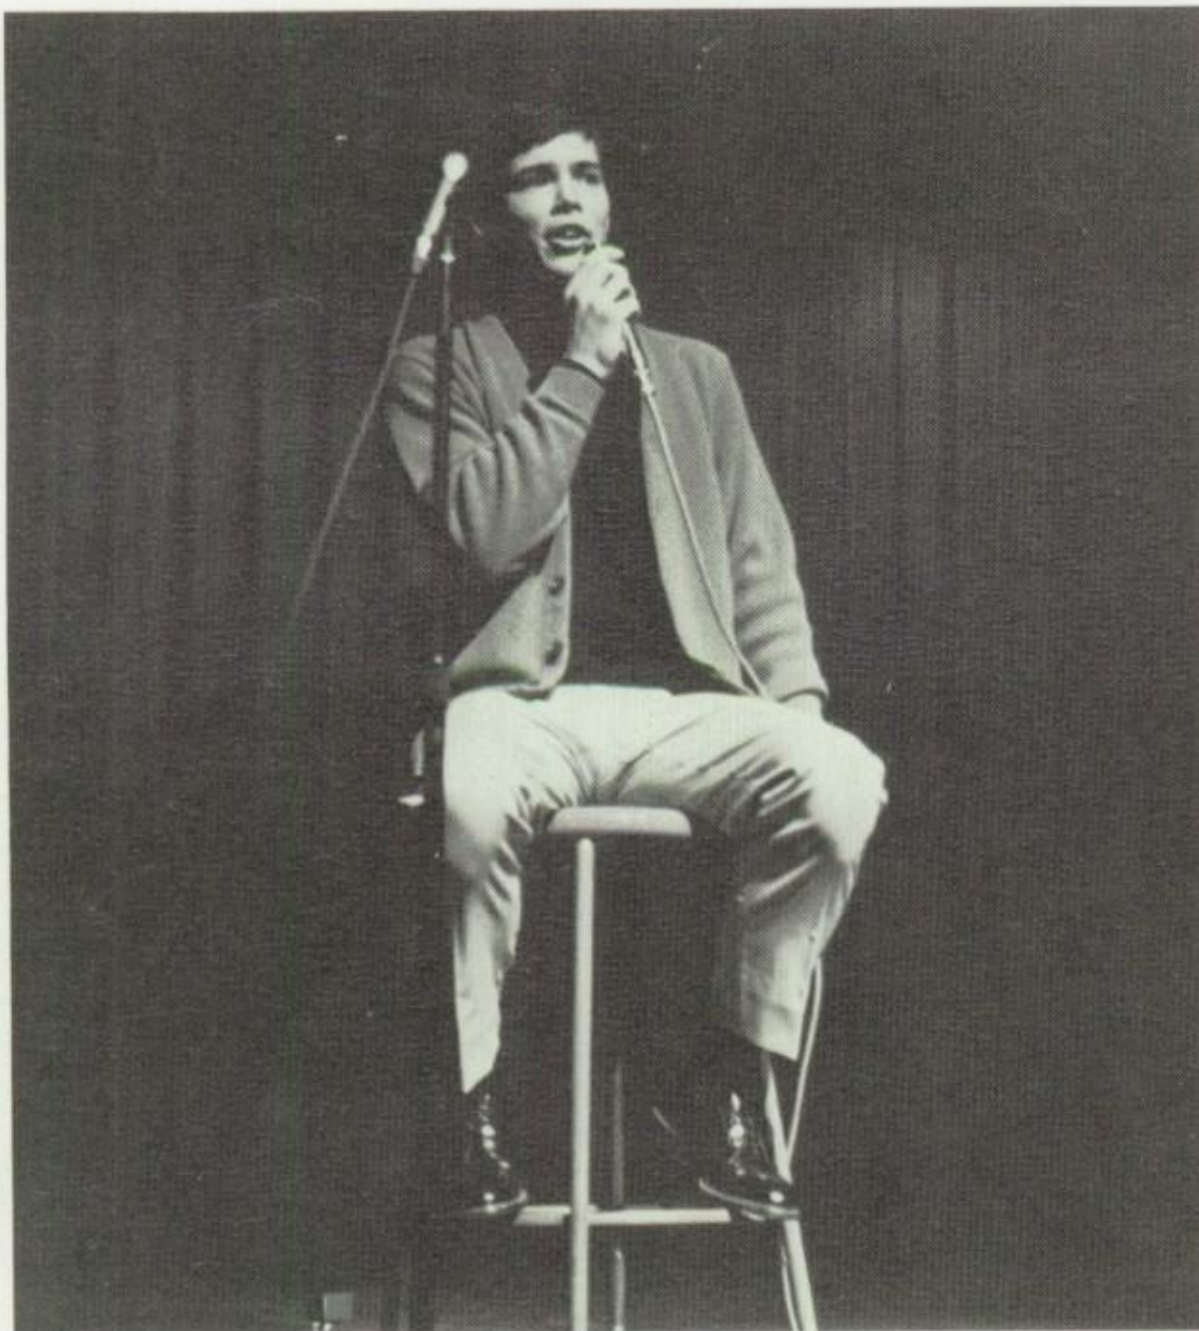

EXPERTS MIKE WALKER and Patty Timmons urge their friends to join in and swing out with the latest dance craze during the student council's winter jamboree.

Annual Show Presents Student Talent in Nighttime Program

By winning first place in this year's annual talent show, Tom Przestwor became the only student to place first for two consecutive years. Junior Christine Walkowiak was awarded second place for her version of "If I Ruled the World." James Jaworski, a senior, took third place with his piano solo "Clair de lune."

As shown by the variety and finesse of the entrants, the general impression of the competition was obviously one of good taste.

The Student Council sponsored this 1966-67 Spring Talent Show under the direction of Brother Paschal, faculty moderator, and Thomas Ruszkowski, Student Council president. Special thanks went to the stage crew for providing excellent light arrangements during the program.

RELIGION CLASS is open for discussion as Bro. James Gleeson listens to opinions.

Spiritual Paperbacks Replace Conventional Text Books

The textbooks used in this year's religion classes placed emphasis on understanding the sacraments and Vatican II. While junior classes studied the difficulties of leading a mature Christian life, the seniors concentrated on a variety of spiritually-orientated paperbacks. Acceptance of one's talents and limitations was the principal concept stressed in each class.

Lively, informal debates accented classes throughout the year; topics centered on the problems of faith in the modern world as encountered in teen-age life. These discussions aimed at leading the students to evaluate their personal beliefs and base their commitments on an enlightened conscience.

WHILE A STUDENT'S answers to a geometry assignment are being read, Mrs. Harri-gan examines problems in her book.

Computations Made Simpler with Use of Modern Math Formulas

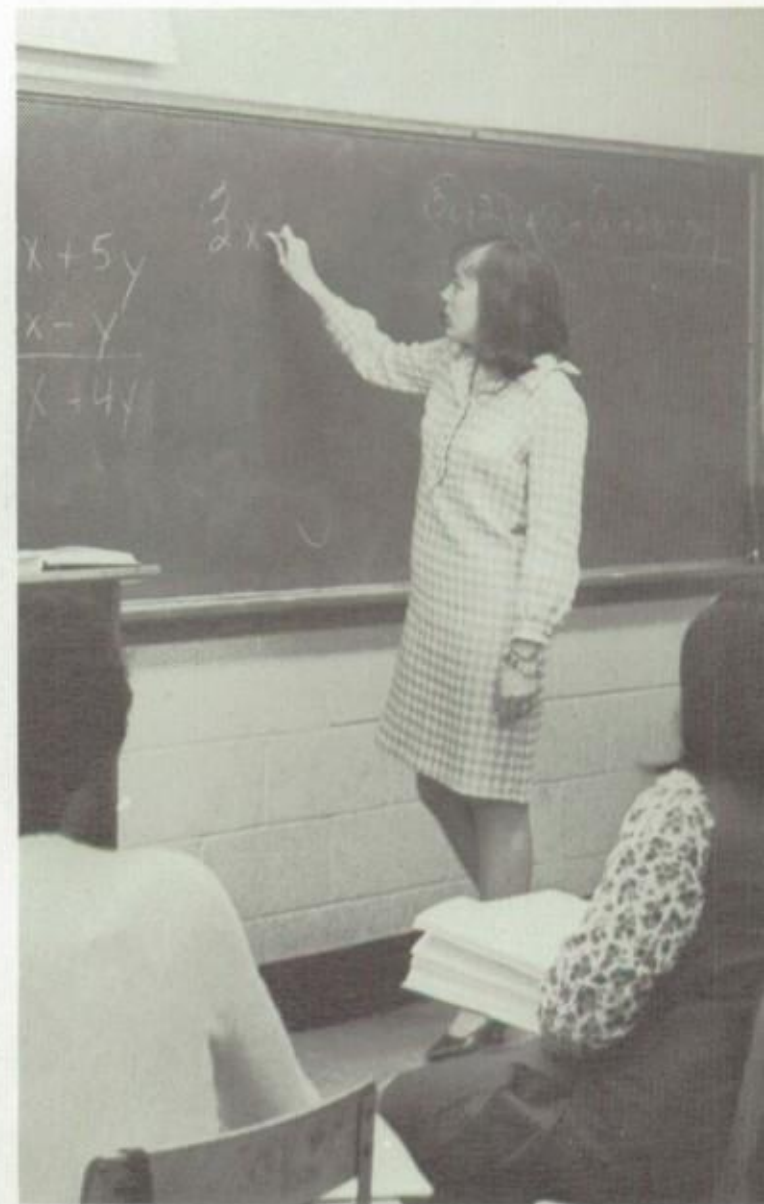

The math program for St. Joe students remains basically the same as in previous years. Elementary algebra is the initial course in the boys' department, while the first-year girls study geometry. Juniors in both departments pursue advanced algebra. The senior girls concentrate on senior math, and boys have either pre-calculus or senior math as electives. Physics, offered to honor students, has in recent years developed into a mixed class for graduating seniors.

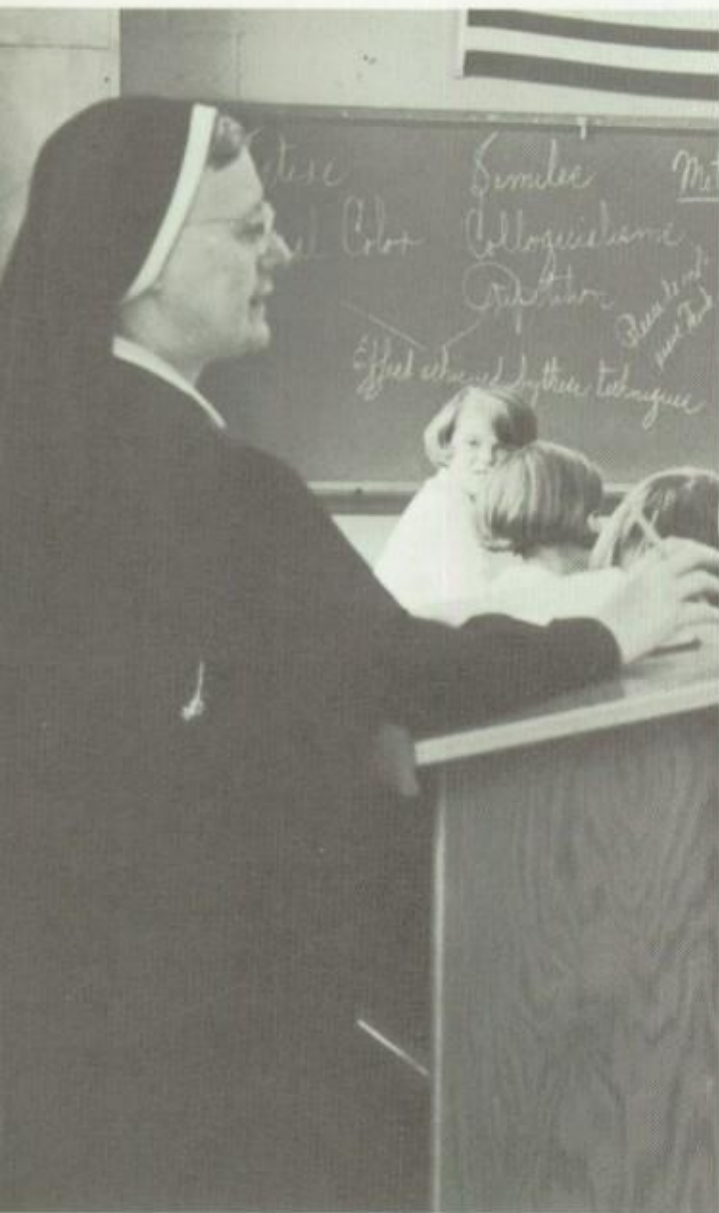

Mathematics teachers added to the staff this year include: Mr. William Frazier, algebra; Mrs. Mary Ann Harrigan, geometry and algebra; and Mrs. Rosemary Hirschfelder, advanced algebra and senior math.

A trip to the Computer Center at Notre Dame is among the activities planned for the math enthusiasts this year, as well as some special projects for the science fair.

Increased Vocabulary, Creative Style Aims of English Dept.

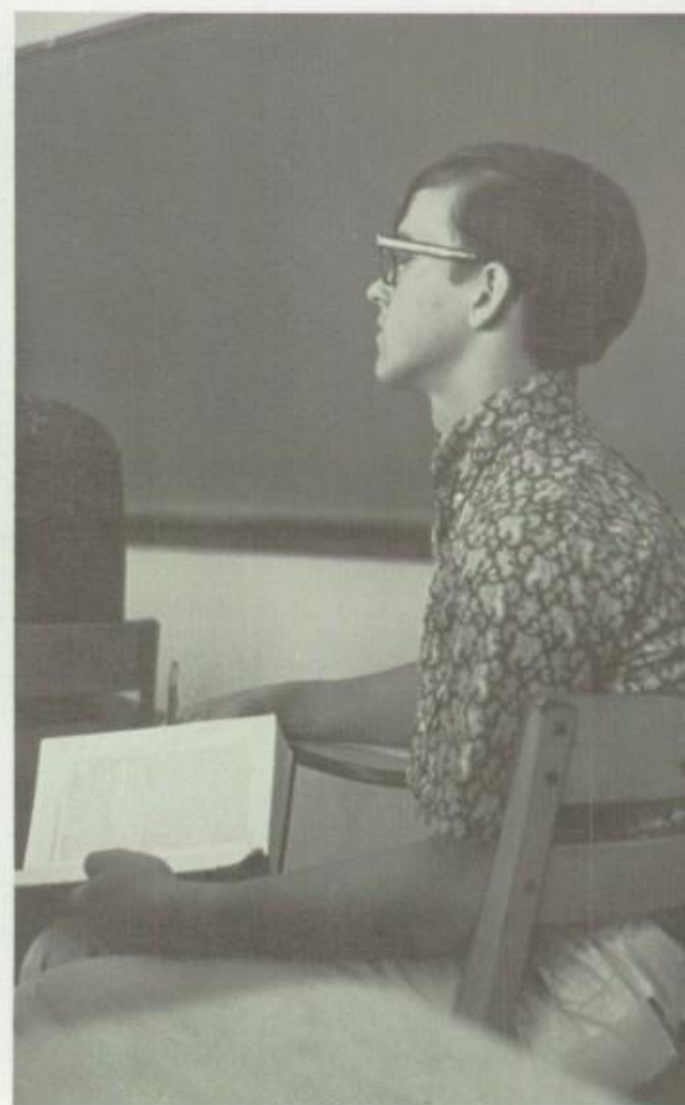

Six new teachers joined the faculty of the English department this year. One of them, Brother Francis Rotsaert, returning after a year's absence, has become the chairman of the English department, a position he had previously held. Other new teachers in the boys' department are Brother Thomas Cunningham and Brother James Gleeson. The girls' department features Sister Joan, Mrs. Billings and Miss McGarry as first year teachers at St. Joe.

It has been the aim of Brother Francis to unify the curriculum of the boys' and girls' departments. This past year; both sections concentrated on vocabulary and creative writing, and all classes except the senior boys used the Ginn literary series for their main text.

Outside reading was stressed, and paperbacks were used extensively to supplement the literary anthologies.

CLOSE ATTENTION is paid by Mike Bell to Mr. DeVliegher's lecture on short stories.

FIRST-YEAR STUDENTS LISTEN to Mr. Brown explaining the folk-lore and customs of Spain. Beside basics of the Baroque language, pupils learn Spanish history.

CONSTRUCTION OF IRREGULAR VERBS is the principal topic of Brother Carlos' remarks during his second-year Spanish class.

Language Lab Aids Students in Quest of Foreign Dialect

Progress in a foreign language course is measured by a student's increasing ability to speak, read and write the language with effectiveness and clarity. A study aid which was recently introduced at St. Joseph's to further this purpose is the language laboratory. This device, consisting of portable units with attaching headsets, enables the student to listen to tapes containing Latin, French or Spanish dialogue. He can then evaluate his comprehension of what the recording has contained.

The guest appearances of Notre Dame exchange students were of interest to both excelling language scholar's and the less successful pupils. At these visits, the speakers provided insight into the practical use and flexibility of their native tongues. They also related interesting facts about the customs and geography of their homelands.

SPANISH STUDENTS hear Br. Carlos' impression of a lesson in sentence structuring.

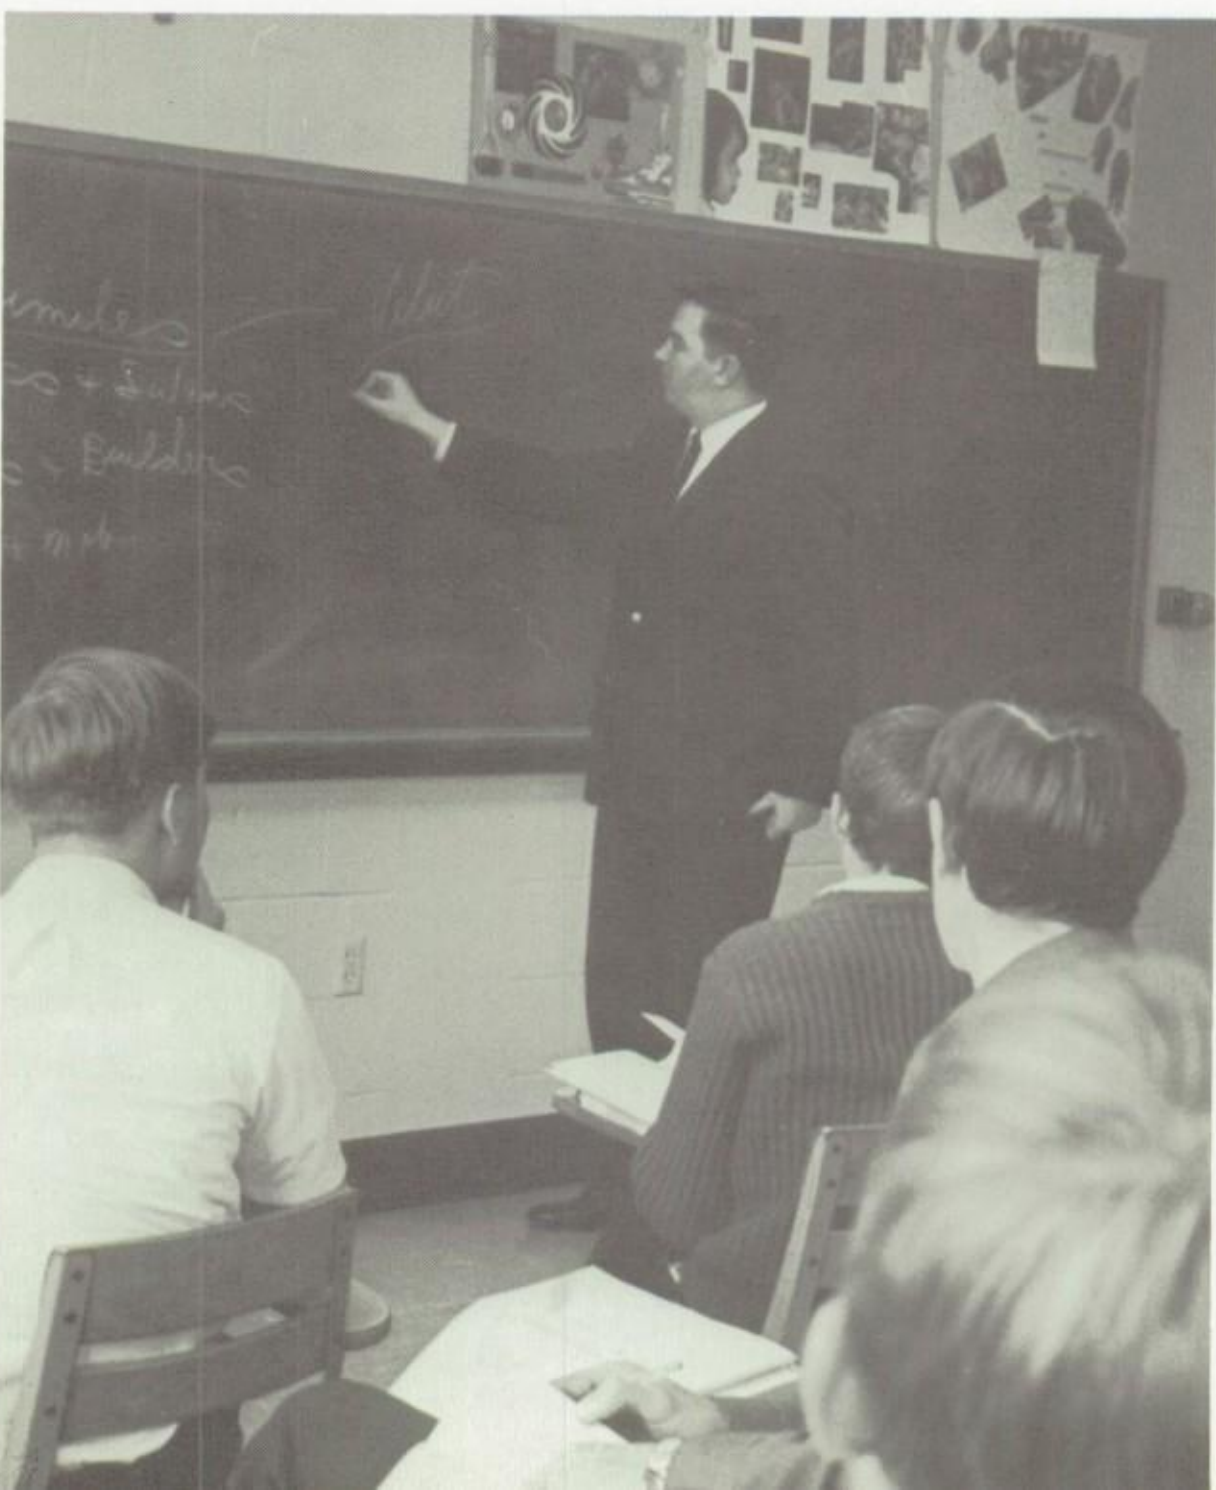

"QUE PASARON USTEDES DURANTE EL VERANO?" doesn't seem to confuse Mr. Brown's first-year students as they eagerly raise their hands in order to answer the question.

WINTER SCENERY serves as a background for Sister Paula and her French students.

COMPARISONS of some of the complex literary techniques used by Vergil in his writings are distinguished and evaluated by Brother Thomas Cunningham in his advanced Latin class.

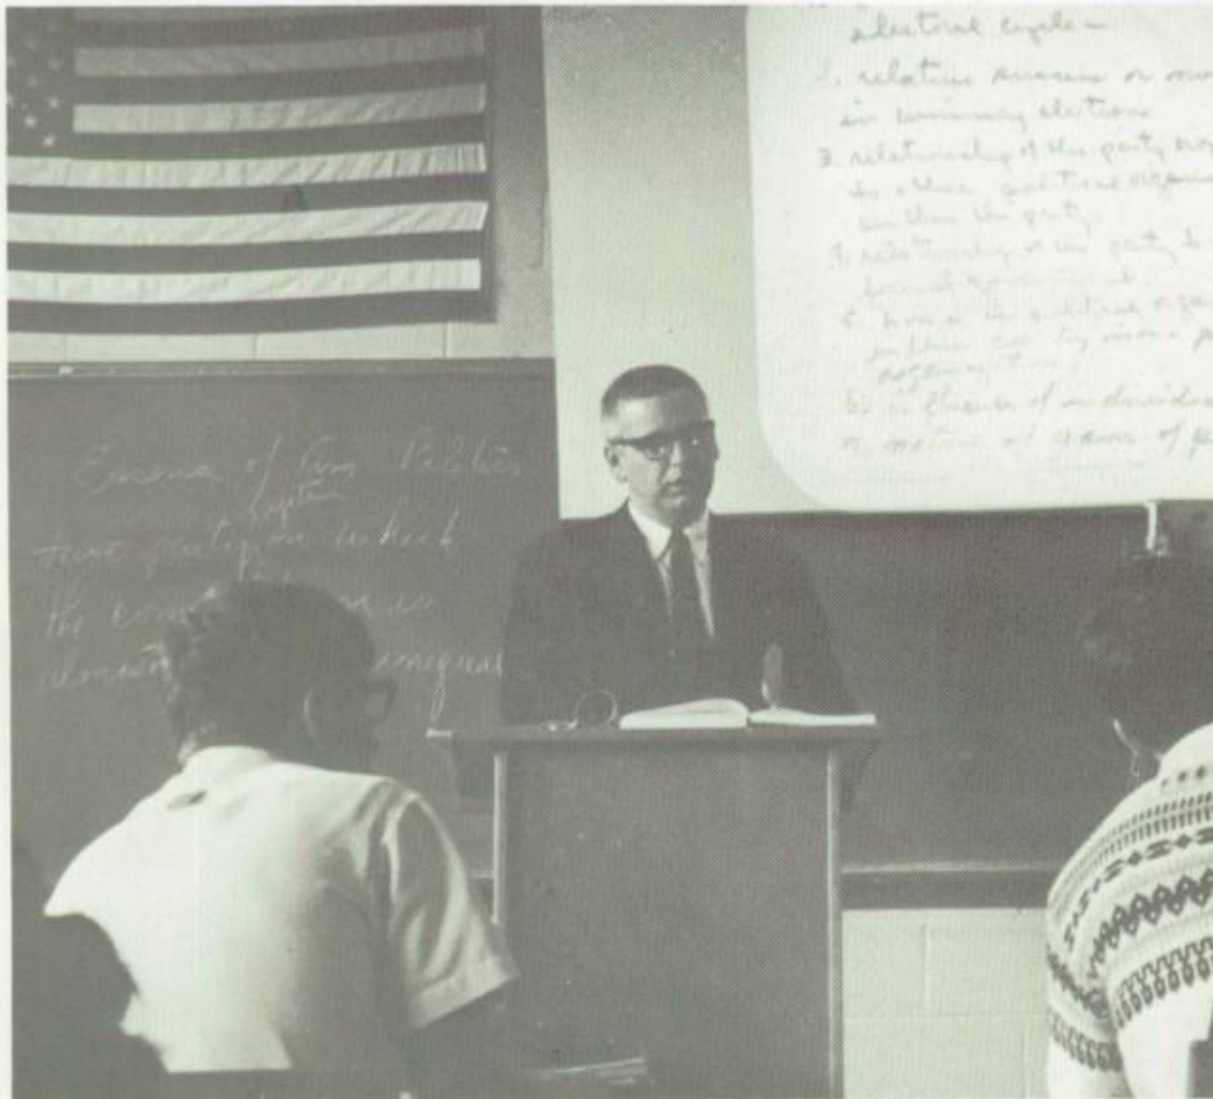

Current World Problems Require Examination of Past Events

This year's social studies classes continue to stress the importance of keeping up with current events. Two popular magazines, Time and Newsweek, were utilized by Brother Wilbert to instill current trends and ideas into his world history students. Mr. Hal Finch, U.S. History teacher for the boys' department, assigned outside projects to keep his junior classes aware of developments in the news. Both Brother Wilbert and Mr. Finch used research papers, a part of any social studies course, to impress upon the students the necessity for intensive analysis of historical and political facts. World geography is offered to freshmen, while one semester each of government and economics are requisites for seniors. Field trips included a visit to a session of the Indiana General Assembly, as well as a state mental institution in this area.

U.S. HISTORY TEACHER Mr. Finch checks Mark Sedenik's homework. He explains the need for an alert citizenry.

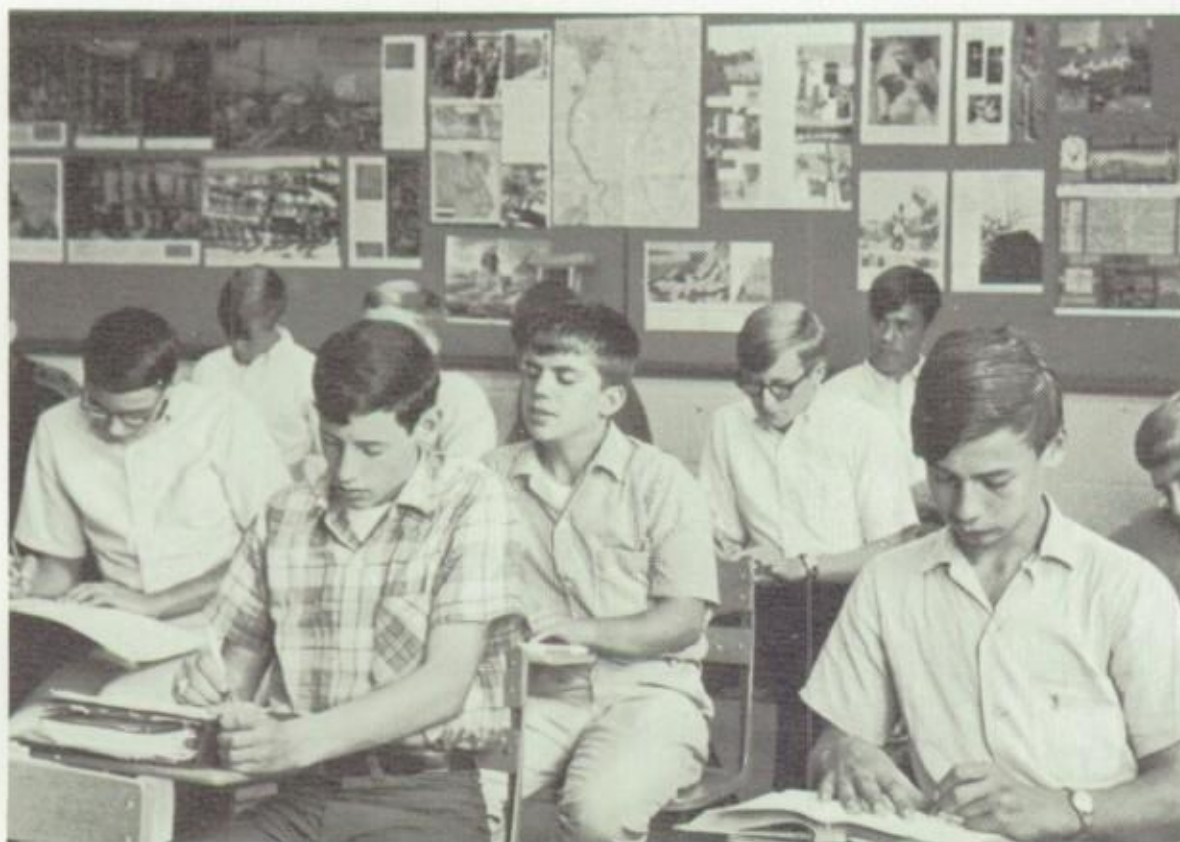

"THE ESSENCE of American politics is the Two-Party System," says Bro. Richard. In his American government class Bro. Richard also explains a period of time in an electoral cycle.

EVALUATION of state politics is directed by Miss Reichart in her government class.

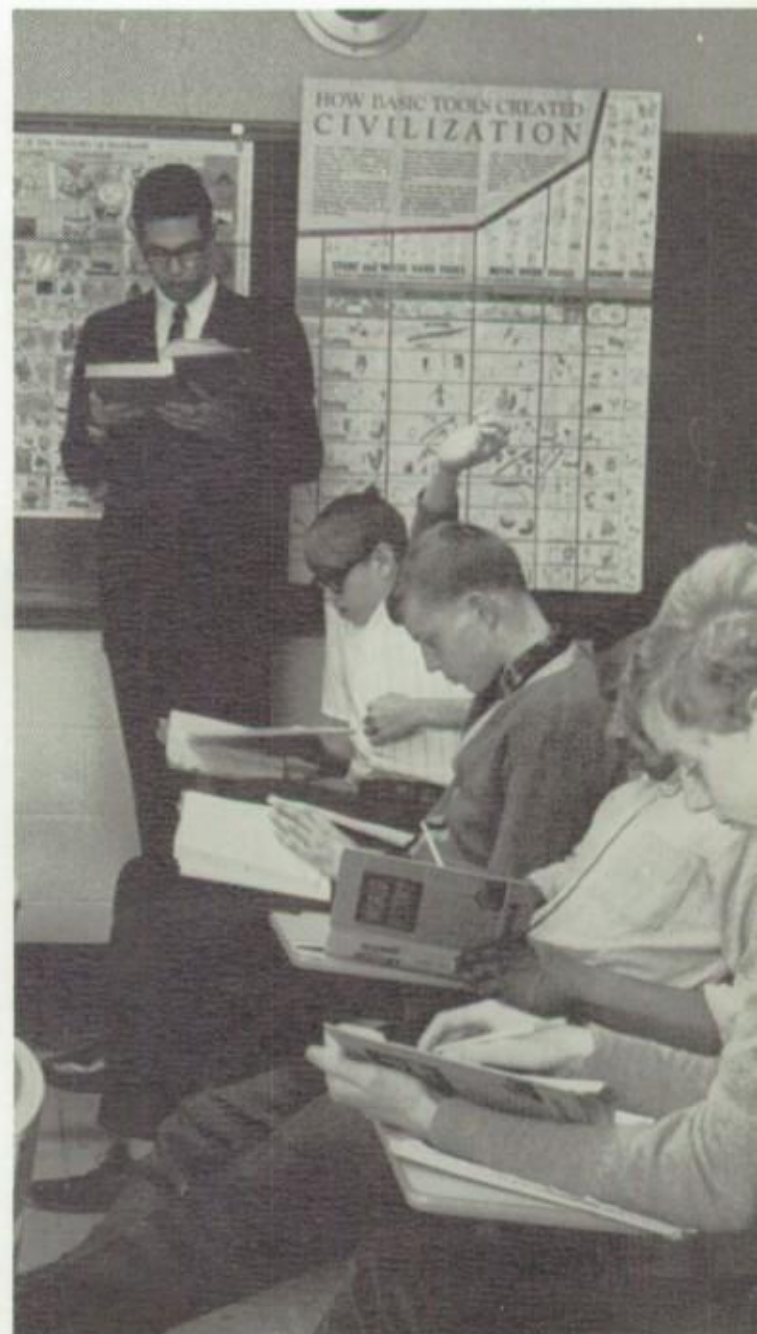

WHILE MAKING A POINT, Sister John Joseph utilizes a catalogue which classified national exports according to weight, quantity and monetary value. The class is world geography.

BROTHER JOHN CRAMER quizzes his class on the puzzling events in world history.

Students Enrich Cultural Views Via Artistic Achievements

Headed by Brother Daniel Kane, the fine arts department aimed at instilling a sense of culture in all students. Assisting Brother Daniel in his duties were band director, Mr. Howard and Miss Harakat, school art instructor.

The activities were planned to include one major program each month. Focal point of the year was the Fine Arts Night, at which several artistic clubs displayed their talents. Outstanding attraction at this function were a presentation of songs given by the Folksingers' Club, a demonstration of argumentive procedures shown by the Debate Team, and a number of arrangements performed by the combined choruses.

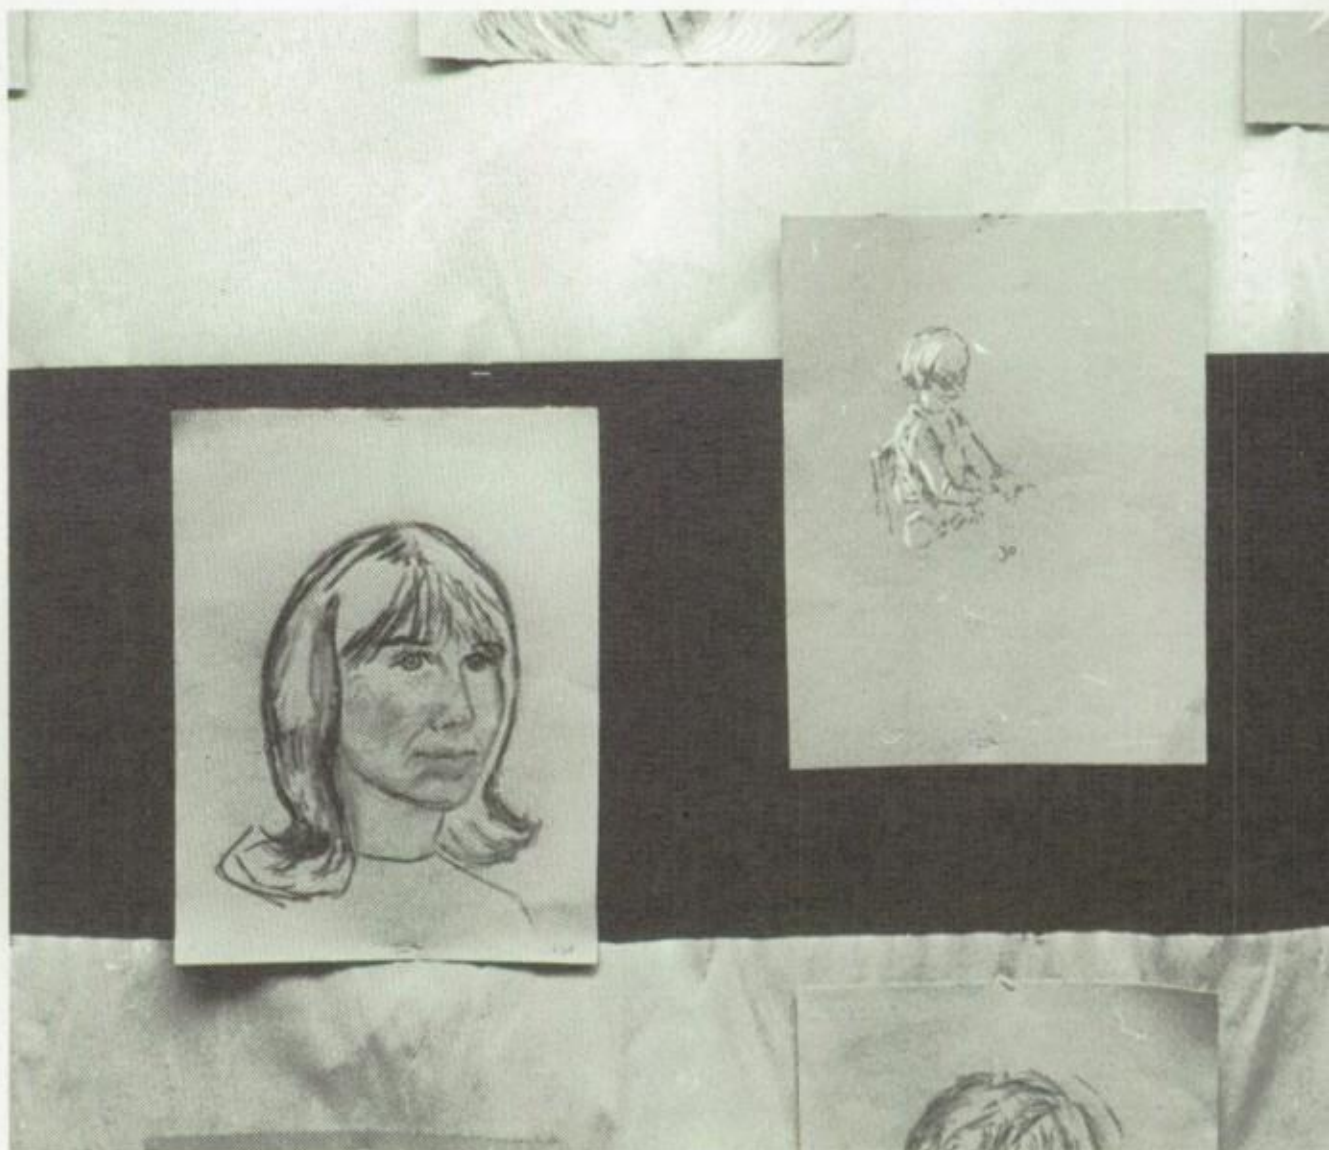

Also on the agenda were art exhibits, choral programs, and the viewing of drama groups from the area's universities. Plans for the future included the addition of a drama club to the curriculum, which would make use of the school's stage facilities. Once again, the art, band, and chorus electives will remain open to all students of both departments.

Laboratory Experiments Advance Understanding Of Theories

Teachers on the science staff this year were: Mrs. Hall and Mr. Janowski, chemistry, Br. Albert, physical science, Br. Benedict, physics and Miss Lubbens, biology.

The Open House which took place on April 30 of 1967 saw students of the biology, chemistry and physics divisions demonstrate research procedures in their respective fields. Popular exhibits concerning biology were those on catalysts, enzymes, protein synthesis, and the function of carbon dioxide in the photosynthesis process.

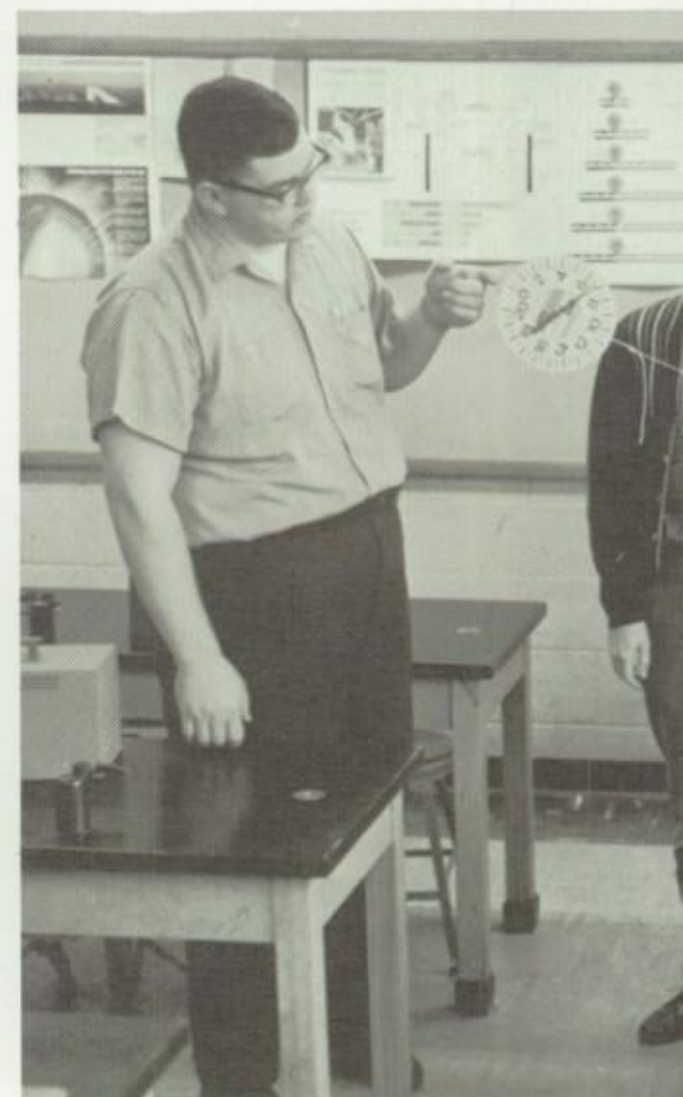

Chemistry students illustrated the processes of distillation, crystallization, and the electrolysis of water. Sister Mary Victor, science department chairman, and Mr. Janowski arranged details for viewing of the experiments, including a display of apparatus used by the physics classes to illustrate theories and Sue Loebach's "Iodine Time Clock," a prize-winning project in the Regional Science Fair.

Common Skills Mastered Through Practical Arts Curriculum

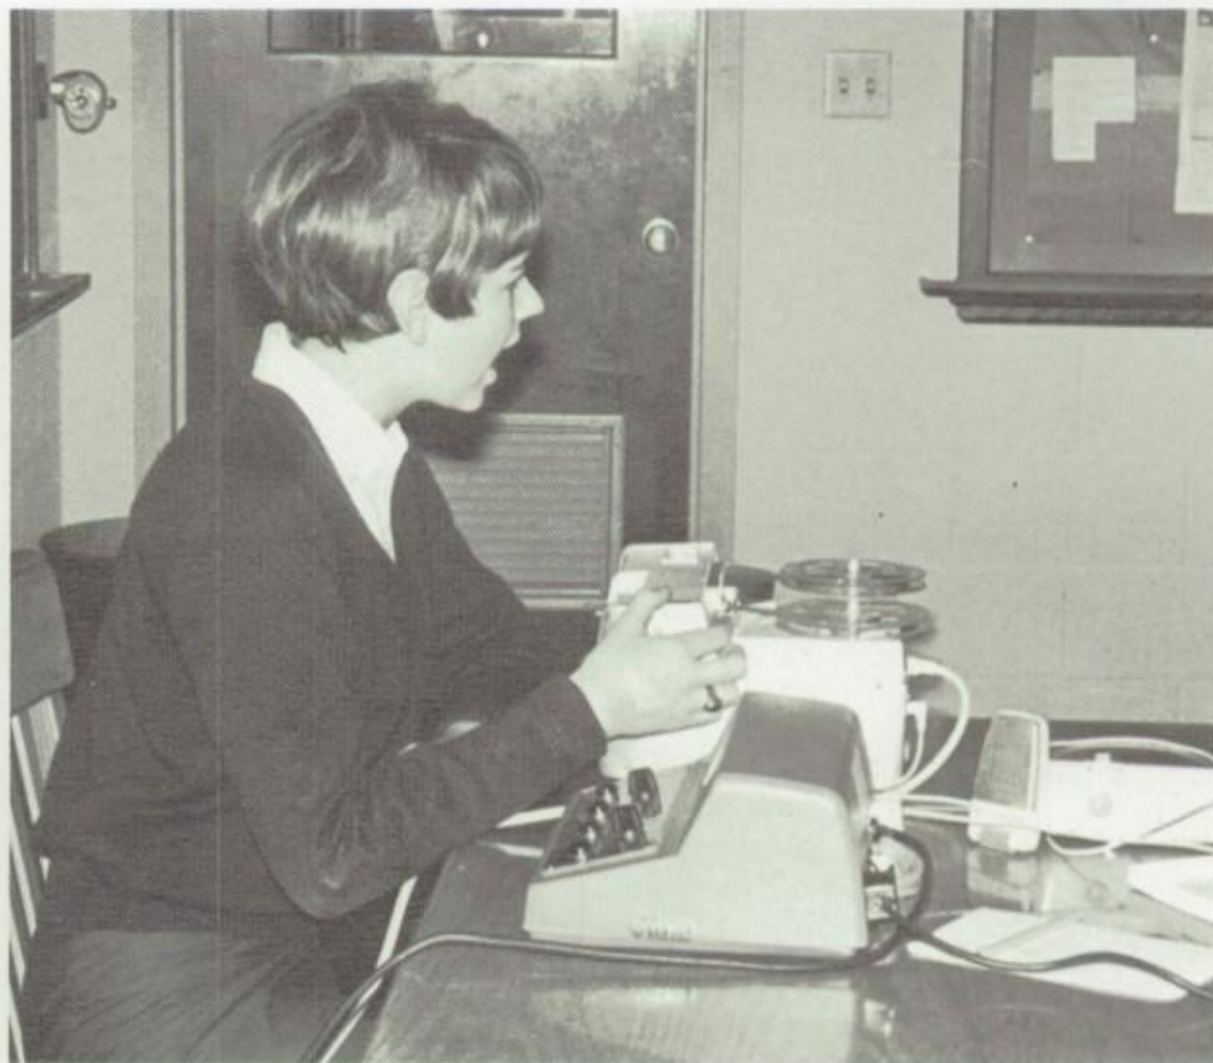

St. Joseph's offers a wide variety of classes in the practical arts field. Boys interested in a business background have a choice of salesmanship, business law, or general business, courses all taught by Mr. Robert Donewald; Brother Edward's personal typing class is also offered.

For those interested in literary work, Mrs. Dana Billings' journalism class is a recommended elective. This is the only co-educational class offered in the practical arts curriculum.

In the girls' department, Mrs. Wilma Sigrist instructs Home Management and Child Care, Clothing I and II, and Foods I and II. In addition to personal typing, taught by Sisters Marie Jeanne and Carolyn, the girls' department also features Typing I and II, taught by Mrs. Siminski and Sister Carolyn, and shorthand, taught by Mrs. Siminski.

New Director Lends Impetus to '67 Edition of St. Joe Band

Under the capable direction of Mr. Howard, the new band instructor, the St. Joseph's High School Band was more active than it has been in years past. Thirty-two strong, the dedicated musicians attended practice sessions which for the first time were held each morning during the first period.

Already veterans of the group, band president Dan Skwarcan and drum major Ken Hanig planned procedures during a most challenging year. Achieved were a half-time program during the disappointing Marian football contest and participation in the homecoming ceremonies during the St. Joe-LaSalle game. The band also performed at the Christmas and spring concerts. An even larger schedule is anticipated next year with plans to include pom-pon girls as a more regular part of half-time performances during the football season.

THE FIRST FOOTBALL GAME ever between St. Joe and Marian begins with Ken Hanig directing the band onto the field.

DEDICATED POM-PON GIRLS and drummers practice drills for the half-time show at homecoming. Early morning practices were a part of preparation for the program's success.

THE SAINTS' MARCHING BAND assembles for instructions from Mr. Howard. The band gets set for the spectacle at half-time in School Field against Marian.

BAND DIRECTOR MR. HOWARD aiming his remarks at the saxophone section, explains a complicated harmony. The band meets for practice each morning during the first period.

DRUMMER DAVE SZYMANSKI seems in a daze as he performs at the Marian game.

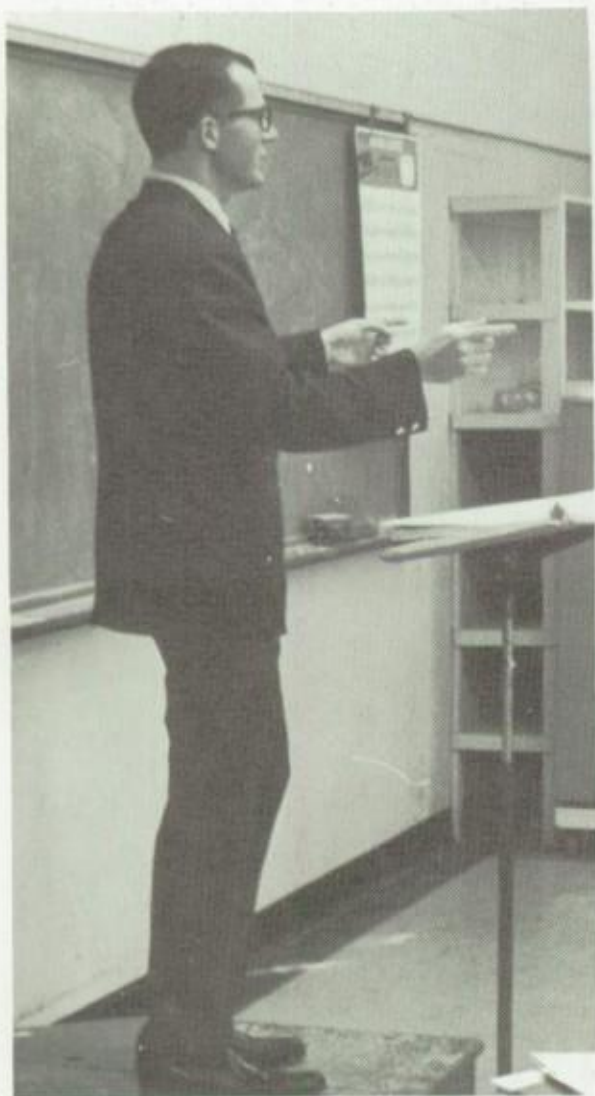

Choralers Televised On Annual Tribune Christmas Pageant

Because their instruction has coincided with Brother Daniel Kane's four years of directorship, the sixty senior choralers supply a ready foundation for musical diversity. Fifty-five junior and forty-five sophomore members bring the total sum to refreshing, relaxed, invigorating ingenuity.

Three class periods a day are required to unify the complexities of this advanced-style chorus. Despite lack of formal training, a balance of classic and popular arrangements is well maintained to suit and develop their tastes for harmonical excellence.

In December and again in March, the group combined efforts with the band to provide concerts for the student body. Throughout the November performance, the individual chorus segments delivered offerings of autumn songs. Evening versions of the Christmas and May programs were given.

MODERATOR Br. Daniel Kane directs the vocal group in a before-school practice.

DIFFICULTIES in the formation of minor-key four-part harmonies are expounded on by moderator Br. Daniel Kane.

ORIGINALITY is the feature of their performance as Bob Berryman and Tom Minczeski deliver their interpretation of "Greenback Dollar" between choral numbers.

Language Clubs Aim Interest At Appreciation of Cultures

Now in its second year at St. Joseph's, the Spanish Club has risen in membership to thirty-six. Brother Carlos presided over the bi-weekly meetings and guided the members through their expanded schedule of activities.

Officers were Jose Canzio, Bill Humphrey, Colleen Starck and Marty Ogren.

Numbering forty, the Latin Club members sought an appreciation of the Greek and Roman cultures. Elected officers were Tom Dennig, Dale Lesicki, Delphine Gorkiewicz and Mary Jo Fitzgerald. Sister Rosalima moderated the group, whose main event was a banquet planned for April.

The St. Joe French Club remained very much on the scene with Sister Pauline in the capacity of moderator. Officers for the past 1967-68 school year included Anne Ewbank, Jacque Claeys, Mary Jo Fitzgerald and Debbie Holdmann.

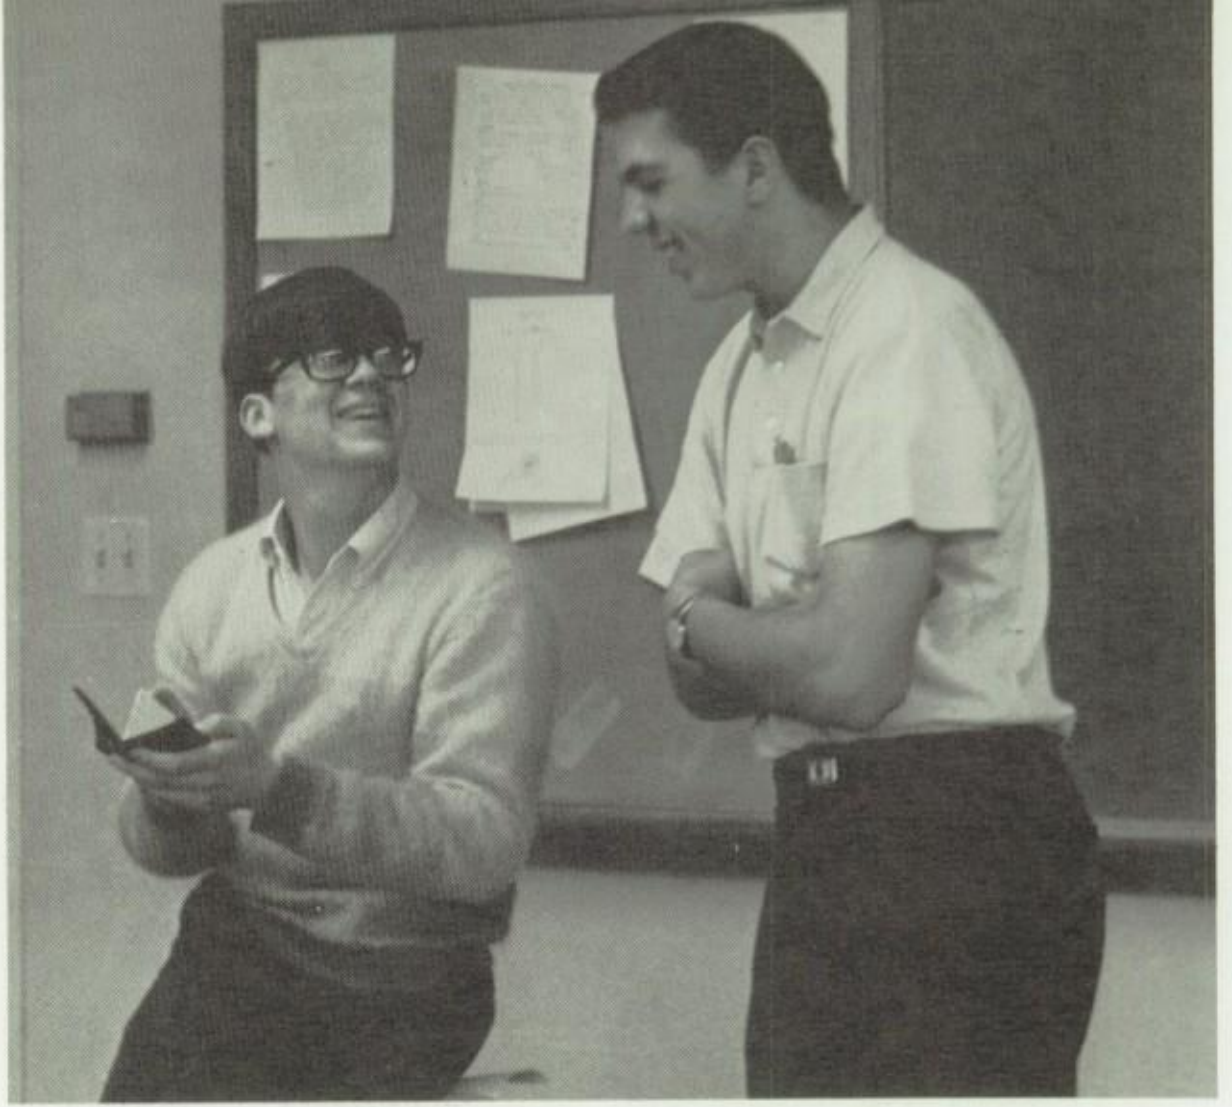

MEETINGS OF THE FRENCH Club are often held during class time. Sister Pauline, who is conducting the meeting, comments on a suggestion made by one of the members for activities.

Mission Club Sponsors Charity Drive For Ind. Handicapped

With probably the largest membership of any extracurricular group in the school, St. Joseph's Mission Club has both boys and girls serving on all of its major committees. Brother Carlos and Sister Joan acted as moderators in a year which saw nearly one hundred and fifty students join.

The officers included: Mary Fran Cybulski, Mike Redinbo, Ron Sebeliski and Mary Ann Schlorch.

The primary aim of the Mission Club is to raise funds for the numerous foreign mission programs. By holding the weekly mission collection, approximately twelve hundred dollars is raised through student contributions.

"Project Love," the dance held annually, has become perhaps the club's major activity. Charged as admission is a donation of used clothing destined for Appalachia.

Members also serve as ushers at the card parties which are sponsored by the Columba Hall Mission Society.

School Furnished High-Quality Citizens Through N.H.S.

Fall and spring induction ceremonies climaxed high school careers of dedication for National Honor Society candidates. Ideally, fifteen percent of each graduating class is represented by its membership in this organization.

Traditionally, those in the National Honor Society exemplify scholarship, leadership, character and service. Besides sponsoring this past October's College Night and trips to campuses around the state, both chapters collaborated in providing tutoring services for students.

Presidents Frank Sullivan and Kathy Pedtke made arrangements for St. Joseph's cultural programs at which their fellow members ushered and sold refreshments. The moderators were Brother Gerard Mason and Sister Carole.

Debaters Seek Effectiveness In Speaking, Reasoning Skills

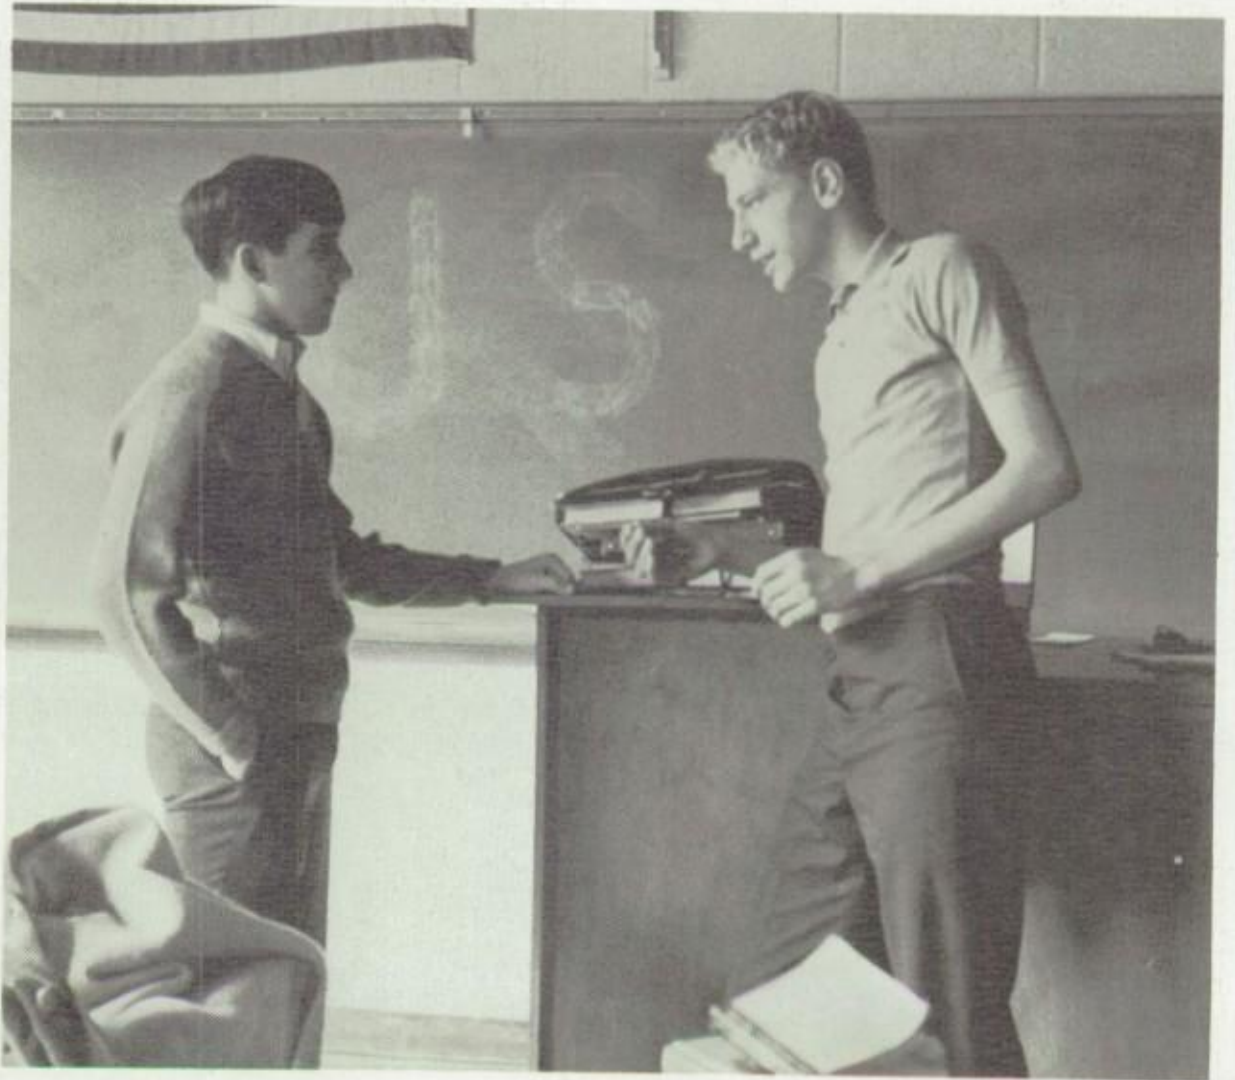

Coached by the capable Brother Daniel Bengert, the twenty-eight junior and senior candidates on the debate team enjoyed a bright year. The group's varsity consisted of eight debaters arranged in pairs, while the sub-varsity was made up of twenty members.

The team's topic for discussion this year was "Whether or not Congress should standardize criminal investigation procedures." Varsity debaters worked on their approaches and formats on Mondays, and the sub-varsity drilled on procedures every Tuesday.

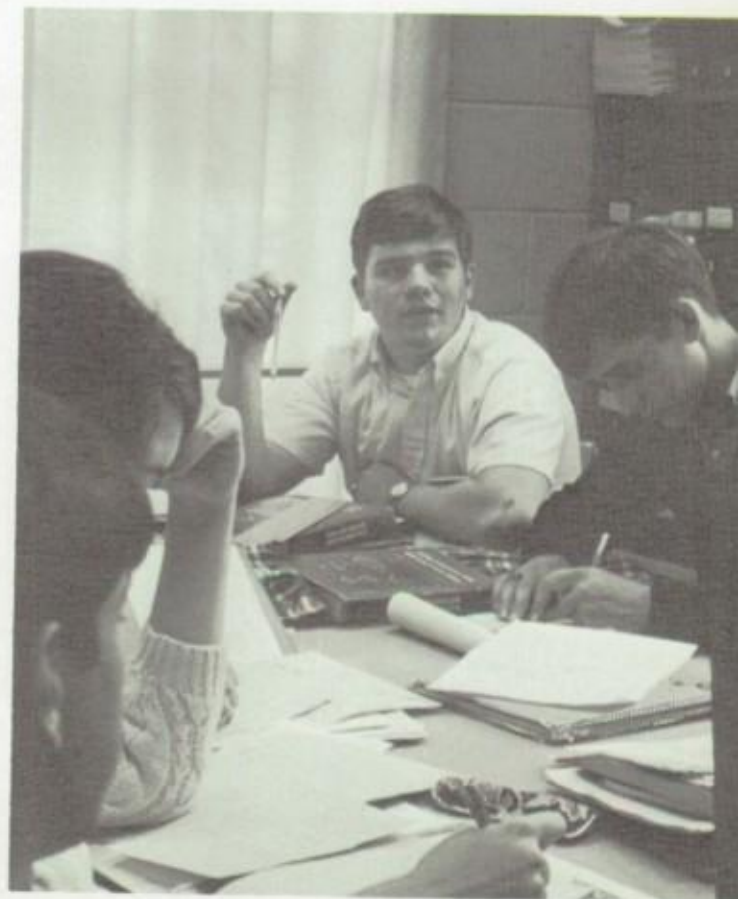

Included on the team's schedule were a series of tournaments held in cities throughout the state. Most important on the program was December 16, when St. Joseph's hosted its debate tournament involving twenty Indiana schools.

Man's Quest For Identity Topic Of Great Books Discussions

"Man's Quest for Identity" served as the theme of the Great Books Club, which Brother Gerard Mason and Sister Carole directed as moderators.

In their search, members examined Cervantes' Don Quixote, Tolstoy's Anna Karenina, and The Players by Comus.

In addition to discussion these books, the group also planned to witness Luigi Pirandello's play Henry IV and the film The Umbrellas of Cherbourg by Legrand. Serving on the student advisory board along with chairman William Johnston were five other seniors. The discussion leaders, by working in conjunction with this board, represented the views of the eighty members of the club.

Student Government Reinstates Chess Tournament Program

St. Joseph's Student Council provides a forum for discussion, promotes co-operation, and co-ordinates activities. Members must: (1) meet all scholastic and disciplinary standards set by the administration, (2) be effective speakers and leaders, and (3) keep their homerooms informed on the topics under consideration before the governmental body.

President John Sullivan, vice-president Jerry Bradley, secretary Sue Toth, and treasurer Linda Faulhaber supervised several annual projects. Renovation of the hallway traffic system was singularly noticeable. Preparation for the Mexican Food Drive, talent show, student directory and Kool-Aid Drive were delayed for weeks while debate raged over alterations in the basic representation structure.

STUDENT COUNCIL members discuss their views on subjects for an upcoming meeting. Topics range from dance formats to the membership of club officers.

Invaluable Assistance Rendered By Library, Office Staffs

Head librarian Mrs. Abraham and her assistant Mrs. Norling instructed the eighteen girls on their staff in the performance of their duties.

The daily functions of the helpers included the processing of books, the completion of ever-present desk work, the cleaning and keeping of shelves in order, and also the checking out of books.

The girls, who voluntarily worked during their study periods, have formed a library club to better acquaint themselves with clerical materials and to obtain more information about the many job opportunities for trained librarians.

Monthly meetings, saw the club members plan trips to nearby libraries. The libraries at the University of Notre Dame and Marian High School were noted because of their efficient filing procedures and updated facilities.

Career Clubs Introduce Members To Prospective Vocations

Its membership totaling forty-five, the Future Doctors Club was moderated by Brother James Gleeson. Seniors, Mark Policinski and Barbara Keyes, and juniors Damian Zielinski and Nancy Boynton served as the officers.

At the meetings, films formed a common ground for discussion on areas of specialization open to students.

Sixty girls followed the direction of Sister Andrew in their effort to grasp an appreciation of the teaching profession. Guest speakers and films elaborated on the necessity of keeping up with changing methods of teaching. To gain experience members correct tests and arrange bulletin boards. Future Teachers Club officers Karen Renaud, Celeste Fredlake, Pat Berger and Carol Daufenback helped plan participation in the annual Children's Hospital party, the Teachers Convention and the school's fall card party.

Modern Hi-Way Style Outlines Future Journalistic Trend

Directing staff efforts under newly-appointed moderator Brother Thomas Matthes, John Trok functioned as chief editor of the 1968 HI-WAY. Daily tasks included copy-writing, editing, cropping and captioning of photos, composition of headlines, and designing two-page layouts. Heeding the motto "Keep to the facts" involved pursuit of interviews with club sponsors and officers.

Basic to structural change was the adoption of a two-part book form. The three-column section contains informal material; the formal portion is a two-column depiction of faculty and groups photographs of the consequential school organizations.

Outer staffers gain experience and practical knowledge of journalistic methods; senior editors guide construction of this "memory bank." The book differs from its predecessors in format, paralleling them primarily in purpose.

Hi-Lite Merits 1st—Honors From Catholic Press Association

Under the leadership of editor-in-chief Sharon Kopinski, the reporters and staff of the 1967-68 Hi-Lite labored to present news and views to the student body. Replacing Sister Carole as moderator, Mrs. Dana Billings offered suggestions in trying to maintain the paper's "B" rating awarded by the National Scholastic Press Association.

Once again, "The Forum" boxes were placed in strategic locations throughout the school as a continued invitation for student comments. Thus, editorials represented the opinions of both the staff and student body.

Published monthly, the Hi-Lite put more stress on school activities than in past editions. Reviews of books and outstanding magazine articles were additional features.

New Coach, Senior Stars Guide Indians Through 6—4 Season

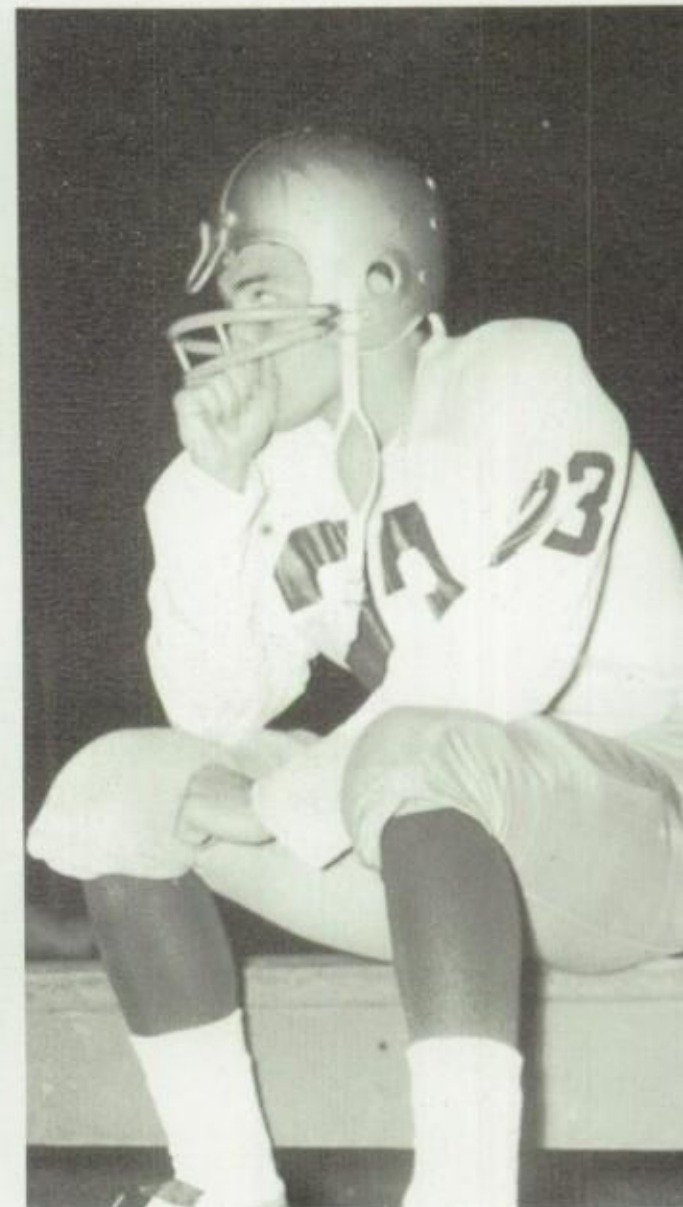

For the third consecutive year, the varsity football team adjusted to the methods of a new coach. Mr. Robert Brown, coming from an assistant coaching position at Mishawaka Marian, coached St. Joseph's Indians to a 6—4 record and second place in the initial season of the Indiana Valley Conference.

Chosen as quarterback for the all-area team three years running, Mike Peiffer led a capable offense sparked by the long-distance jaunts of half back Steve Smith.

Four bus trips provided ample opportunity for students to collectively back their team. Fantastic spirit was most evident when the terrific battle electrified the crowd at the season's finale played against S.B. Wash.

State Ranked Marion, Ft. Wayne Receive Indian Challengers

Concluding with a 15—6 record, Coach Bob Donewald's team staged a complete reversal of the previous season. Statistically, the campaign total was 1,310 points or 62.8 per game; 56.6 was the opposer's average score.

Each player made improvements upon the skills of last year. Defensewise, many of the area's leading scorers were held to below-par performances. Overall, rebounding ability and depth bolstered the club's starting five.

Mike Peiffer, Ted Canfield, Tom Dennig, Dale Lesicki, Paul Fredlake and John Stephenson alternated with scoring honors.

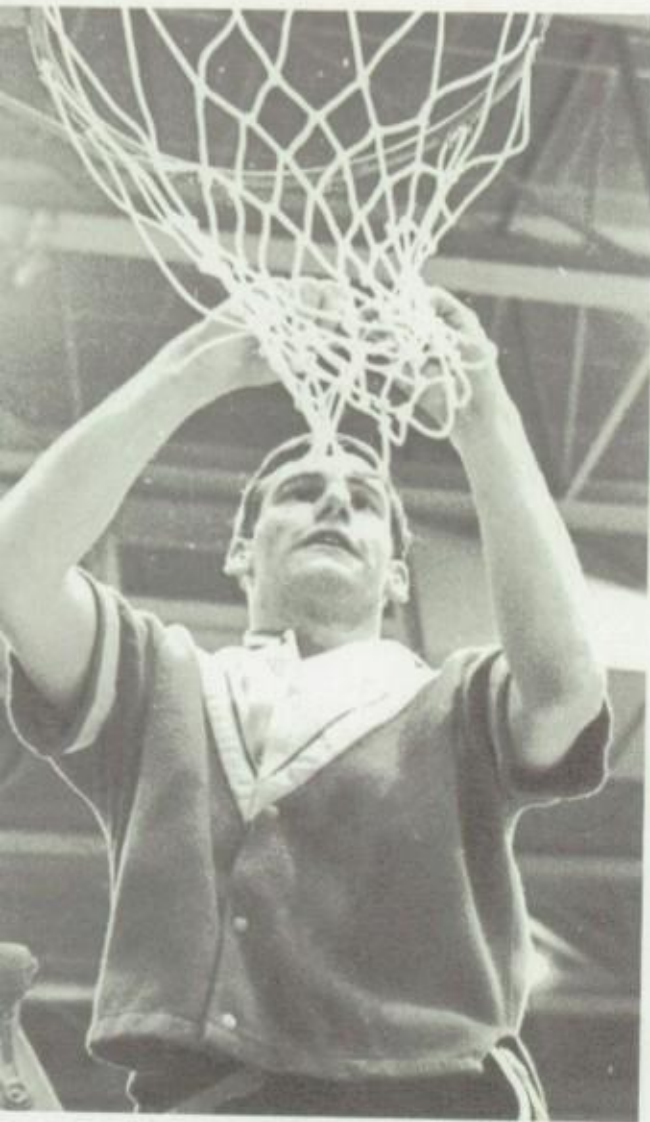

Central, beaten by St. Joseph's for the first time in ten years, was downed when the varsity hooped a ten game winning streak in its drive to the city tournament title.

FORWARD DALE LESICKI, slashed with an apparent foul, misses a tip-in attempt against Jackson. "Tad" Canfield stands engulfed in the battle of the boards.

FORWARD Steve Flowers sets himself for a jump shot, hoping to add two points.

Three Indian Trackmen Qualify For Regional Competition

TEAMMATES Doug Crotty and Mike Sullivan lead the pack in the 1/2-mile at Washington.

Mr. Mike Mayerske was aided in his role of head track coach by Mr. Hal Finch, who directed the freshman squad. Although the varsity won only three meets, Coach Mayerske feels that the team was better than the record indicates. He regards St. Joseph's as one of the city's strongest track teams, but adds that a lack of consistency in field events hurt the total team effort. Mr. Mayerske expects that next year the accomplishments in running events will be equaled and hopes to have more depth in the field events.

Willie Winston, a sprinter who earned 118 points for the freshman team, was voted the most valuable athlete. Seniors Craig Stark and Mike Sullivan were second and third highest scorers with 94 and 69 points respectively.

PROUDLY DISPLAYING the trophy they won for setting a new shuttle-hurdle relay record at the Chesterton Relays are Dave Lapczynski, Frank Reuwer, Craig Stark and Paul Czosnowski.

Hard-Working Varsity Nine Earn 11—10 Diamond Season Record

Adjusting to his role as new varsity baseball coach at St. Joseph's, Mr. Steve Lemme guided his charges to an 11—10 regular season record. He then led them through two difficult games against Central and Riley in the sectional tournament before the squad was outscored by Clay's batters.

The team, competing in the first state tournament, advanced to the semi-finals and was runner-up in the city's sectional playoffs.

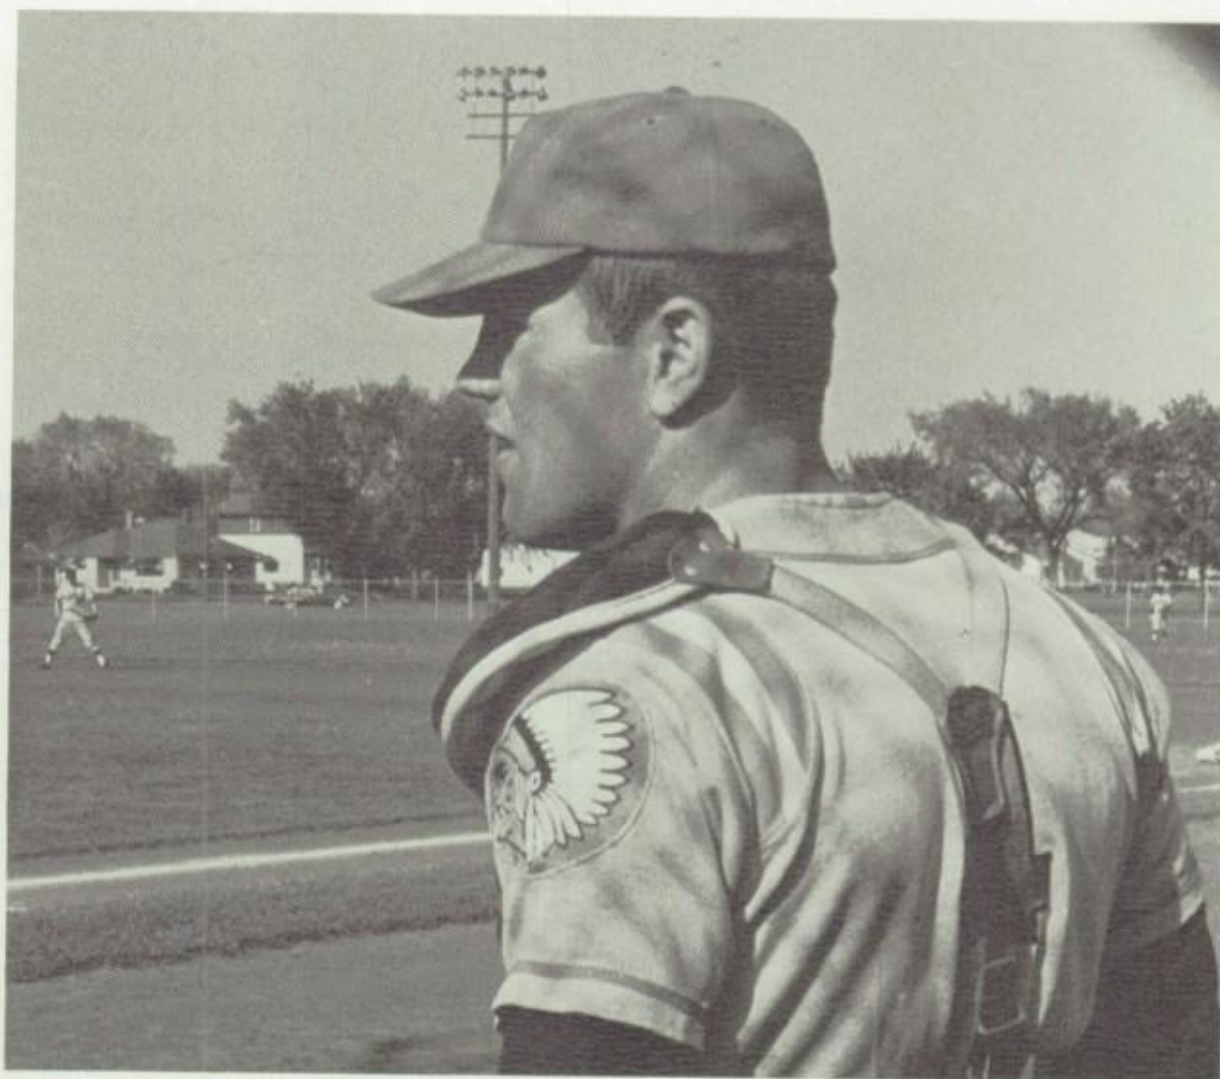

The consistency of the squad's leading hitters was most evident during an early season five-game winning streak. Jim Brunette led in both hitting and runs scored, slugging out a .385 average and scoring 22 runs.

Among the pitching staff, the standout was senior Mark Pajakowski with a 6—1 record. Dave Sieg and Craig Hartzler, who hurled 3—4 and 2—2 records respectively were also regular starters during a season which basically alternated between victories and setbacks. The complete record was thirteen wins as opposed to a total of eleven defeats.

PITCHER PAUL FREDLAKE studies the field situation as he awaits his turn to face the Riley hurler. Tension seems the mood in the crucial semi-final sectional game.

Cheerleaders, Assemblies Spark Enthusiasm for Victories

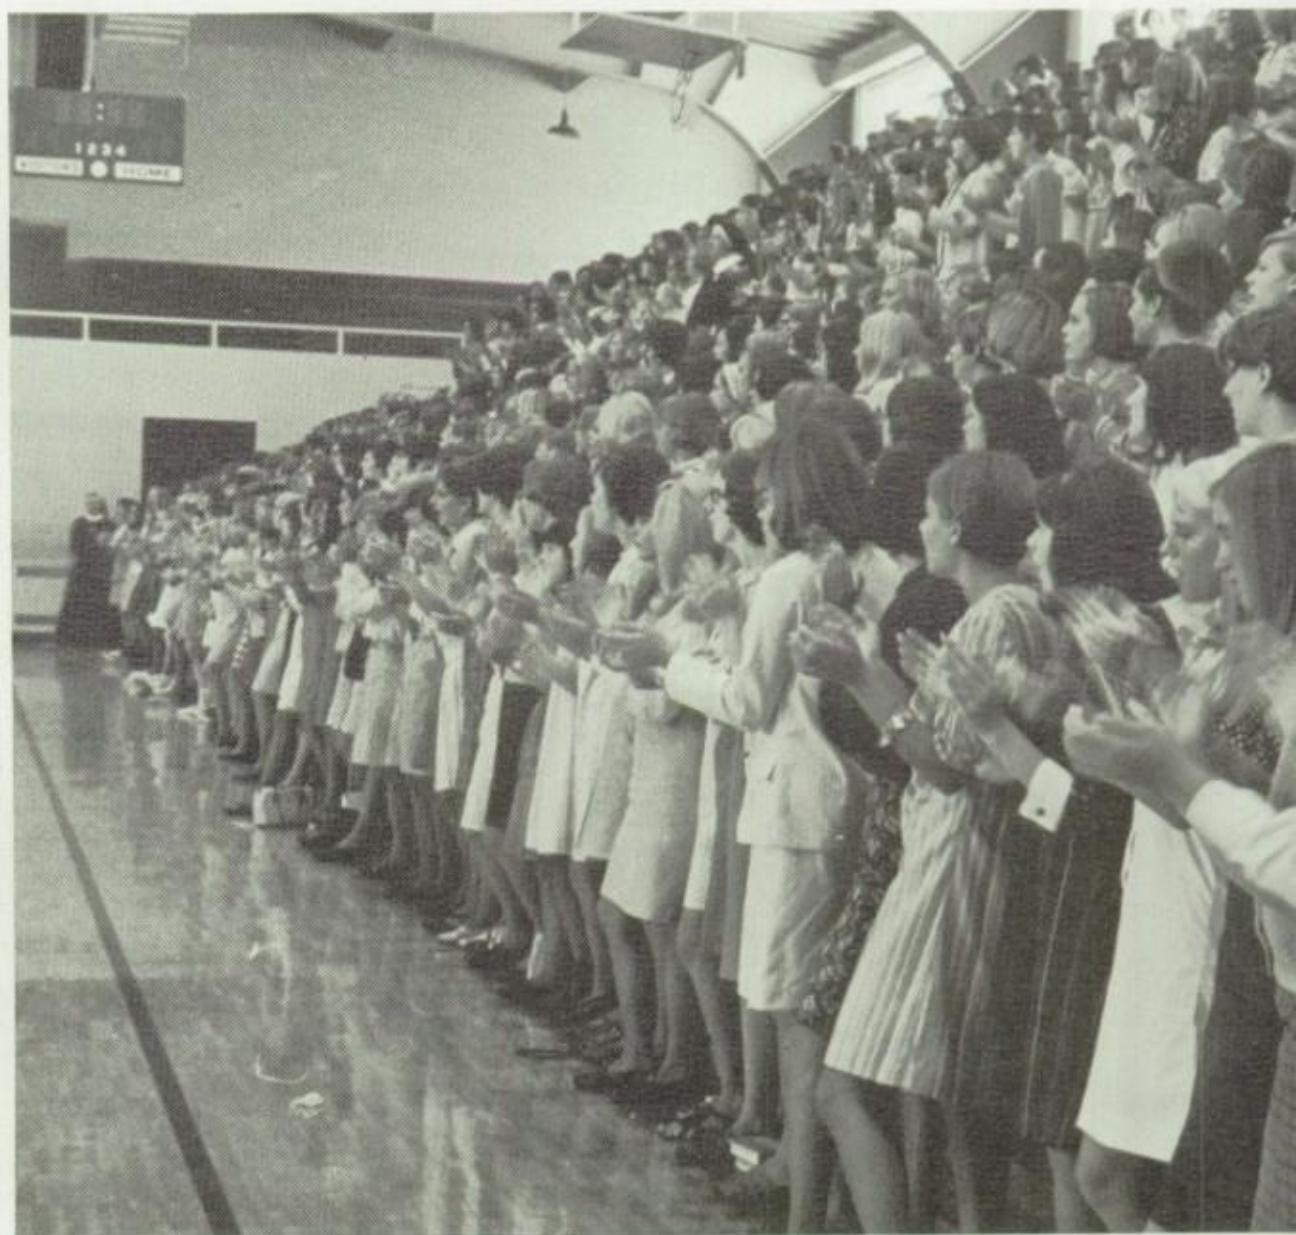

The job of rousing support for the teams in any school is delegated to the cheerleaders. Well-styled uniforms and straight-arm cheers are several of the changes brought about by Becky Ball, Anne O'Hara, Terry Kusz, Colleen Starck and Cathy Molinaro in an effort to modernize.

Naturally, pep assemblies are the best opportunity to instill spirit into students and the team. Outstanding assemblies were those featuring Rocky Bleier and Dave Martin of the Fighting Irish and the visit of St. Joseph's former coach Wally Moore at homecoming time.

Other notable assemblies of the year were the ones for the choral programs, N.H.S. inductions, and, of course, those honoring the school's deserving athletes.

Golf, Wrestling Gain Maturity in St. Joe '67 Sports Scene

Recognition has come at last for St. Joseph's golf team. Br. Thomas Aquinas has served as advisor through several seasons of "unofficial" matches with foursomes from other schools, but now his team has a varsity schedule.

In its first year of regular play, the club finished ninth among twenty-three entries in the 1967 State Sectional Golf Meet in Michigan City.

Only Tom Ewald returned to the first team since Vince Laurita, Mike Chabot, Bill Gross and Jeff Wiseman all graduated.

To qualify, all prospects must enter the Indian Golf Championship held each fall. Mike Monahan saw tournament action along with Terry Wiseman, Ton Dennig and Steve Connaughton. Teammates paired off in matches this spring to determine this spring's first varsity golf team.

Managers Assist Athletic Teams In Pre-Game Preparations

A manager has many tedious tasks which require patience, effort, and sacrifice. The coaches and team members alike depend upon him for assistance both on and off the field. Time consuming as it may be, his presence is necessary at practices as well as at scheduled games.

He is expected to be the first to react to any situation which might arise, such as an injury on the field. His med-kit contains supplies for such emergencies.

Equipment managers take upon themselves an exacting job. Their performance of routine cleaning, repairing, and storing chores often goes unnoticed, yet is indispensable.

ATHLETIC MANAGERS John Probst and John Strantz check the condition of varsity warm-up jackets before a game.

Monogram Club Eventual Goal Of St. Joe Athletic Hopefuls

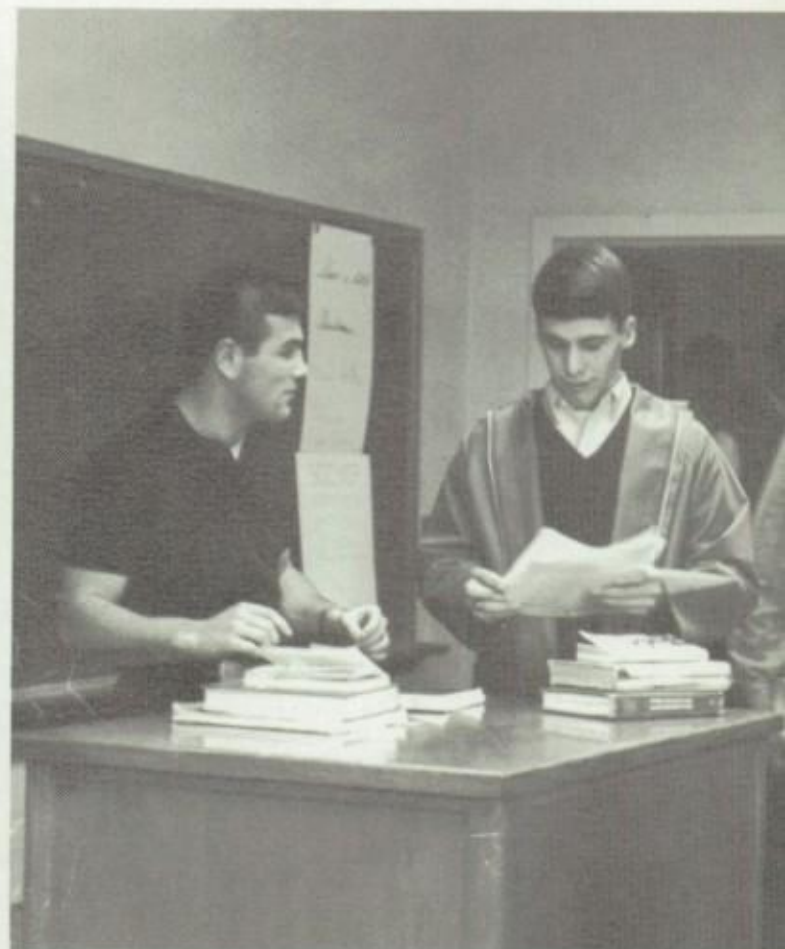

"... to instill a strong feeling of fellowship, and to stimulate a higher degree of respect for the school monograms ... to act as a purposeful service organization in the school." These, as outlined in its constitution, are the aims of the Monogram Club.

Signifying the wearer's continued excellence in sports the monogram is a most coveted award. The recipient, through his actions and athletic achievements, exemplifies outstanding sportsmanship and school spirit.

The members serve the school in many ways. During the football season, they assisted the field caretakers and worked down markers. The club's officers organized crews to usher during home court varsity basketball games.

Junior, Senior Divisions Head Intramural Basketball Play

DESPITE A CIRCLE of arms, Jeff Samora of the Irishmen intramural team rises above a tight situation in a last-minute try to make a basket.

For those students not involved in St. Joseph's varsity sports, intramurals offer a chance to enjoy competition and learn the value of team work.

Basketball, the mainstay of the program in recent years, kept Coach Mike Mayerske busy scheduling games for the thirty teams participating. Games in the freshman-sophomore division were played from seven to eight a.m. and between seven and nine p.m. for upperclassmen.

Because the thirty-minute games are played without timeouts, a change in the rules forces a player to leave the game after he has committed three fouls.

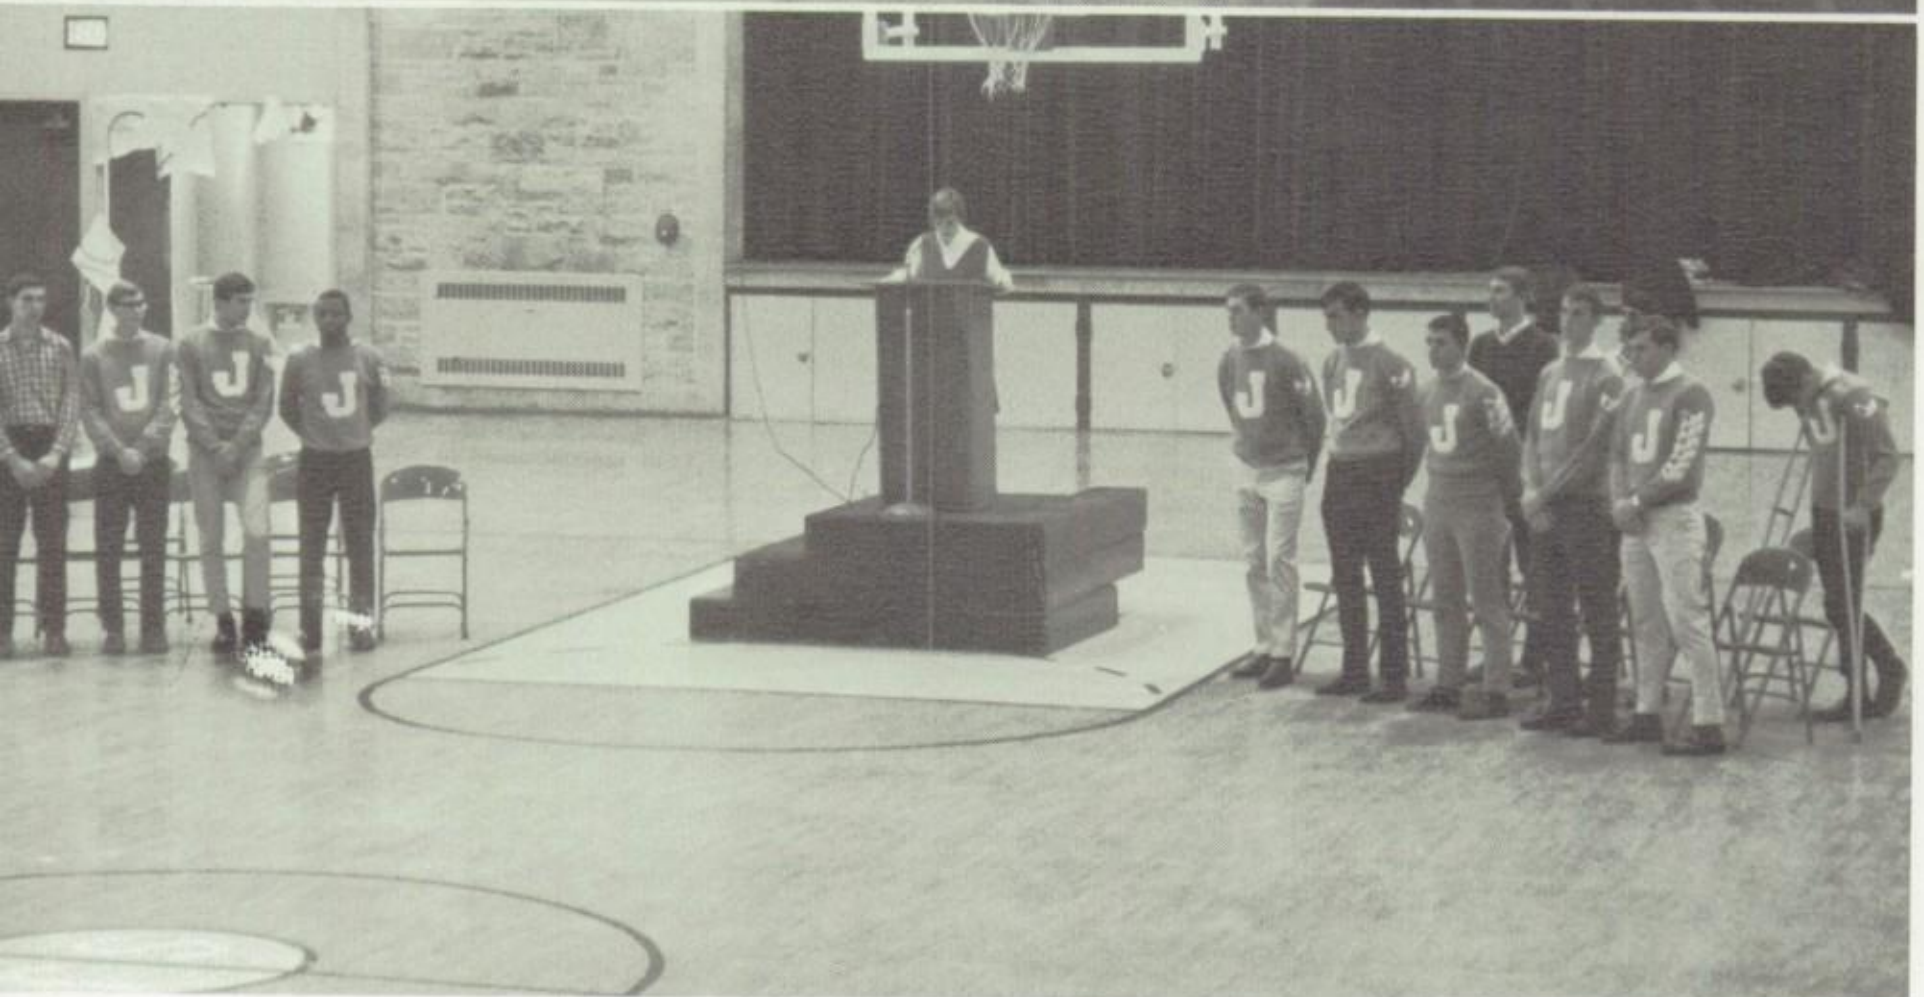

The directors hope to revive the girls' softball league and inaugurate track into intramurals. Although athletic ability may be recognized as a result, the program succeeds if participants share a sense of accomplishment.

BASKETBALL PLAYERS from the girls' intramural schedule send the ball towards the hoop in hopes of a score. Celeste Fredlake presides as scorekeeper.

Administration Employs Modern Approach

Structurally, there have been no major changes made in the administration of St. Joseph's High School. Father Vrabely completed his tenth year as superintendent, Br. James Linscott served his fifth year as principal and Sister Angela her first year as assistant principal.

In operation, the administrators continued to demonstrate an attitude which is most favorable towards improvement. Superb counseling by Mrs. Judith Madden in the girls' department and Brother Wilbert and Brother Paschal for the boys definitely gave evidence of concern for individual student well-being. Co-educational classes continued to be more in evidence in the daily curriculum. And a panel of student representatives was inaugurated to cooperate with the administration and teachers in the revamping of the religion classes.

It was obvious that the sixty-six faculty members and the 1,150 students were aware of and interested in the problems and obligations of their school.

FATHER VRABELY, Sister Angela, and Brother James Linscott meet after school in the faculty lounge to chat informally.

Class Of 1968 Adheres To School Traditions

It is expected that the Senior Class be the leaders of the school. Under the guidance of Brother Rosaire, the one-hundred and twenty-eight boys and one-hundred and fifty-nine girls did a commendable job.

Exhilarating decorations at the 1967 Football Homecoming dance and two inspiring football assemblies were the products of talented committees appointed by president Terry Zubler, vice-president Melissa McCauslin, secretary Janice Horning, and treasurer Andy Kuzmitz. Completing plans for the mid-winter formal and arranging the freshman mixer properly illustrated the seniors' organizational ability.

Involvement in all phases of school activity resulted in thirty-four seniors holding membership in St. Joseph's National Honor Society.

Scholastically, the two members of the class who became National Merit Semifinalists and the eight who received Letters of Commendation brought honor to the Class of '68. The large number who attained honor roll status and manifested their determination in athletic competition further distinguished them as true leaders.

Present Juniors Survey Challenging Year

Two years of hard work and dedication behind them, the Class of 1969 moved into junior standing to face the responsibilities accompanying upperclassmen status.

In becoming academically, athletically, and socially prominent, juniors inherited the traditional headaches of advancement in school life.

College was clearly on the minds of third-year men who considered university choices and encountered the P.S.A.T. and N.M.S.Q.T., tests devised to measure mental application.

Leadership was shown through work in the student council and extra-curricular groups. Examples of successful efforts are the informal dances, pep assemblies, and prom which members of the class organized.

Evidencing continued involvement in school function was the success of the band, cheerleaders and athletes.

Cheerometer, Assembly Gizmo, Sparks Fans

Although smallest in number with only 217, the Sophomore Class has made substantial contributions to St. Joseph's.

Supervision of a football assembly and the Jackson and Penn basketball rallies were major achievements. The Class of 1970 held a mid-December soc hop featuring the Yellow Field, a rock and roll group composed of fellow students.

HOMeward BOUND after a hectic day at school, sophomore Martha Moo is looking forward to the restful bus ride home.

BASEMENT HALLWAY turns to artists' workshop as Brother James Gleeson assists sophs in painting signs for their assembly.

Freshmen Survive First Year Trials

November 22nd was the date of the Freshman Class party, with "Frosh Go Wild" as the theme. Immensely successful, it was held in the school cafeteria which was re-arranged solely for the purpose. In lasting from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m., a precedent was broken when, replacing 45 rpm disks, the hired freshmen musicians entertained the frosh with the live sounds of 1968.

As typical incoming students, the Class of 1972 faced problems like: adjusting to lengthy homework assignments, accepting "restricted" social status, and the planning of study programs designed to provide the best possible preparation for college work in later years. Boundless energy, uninhibited enthusiasm for opportunity, and academic competence mark these high schoolers for success.

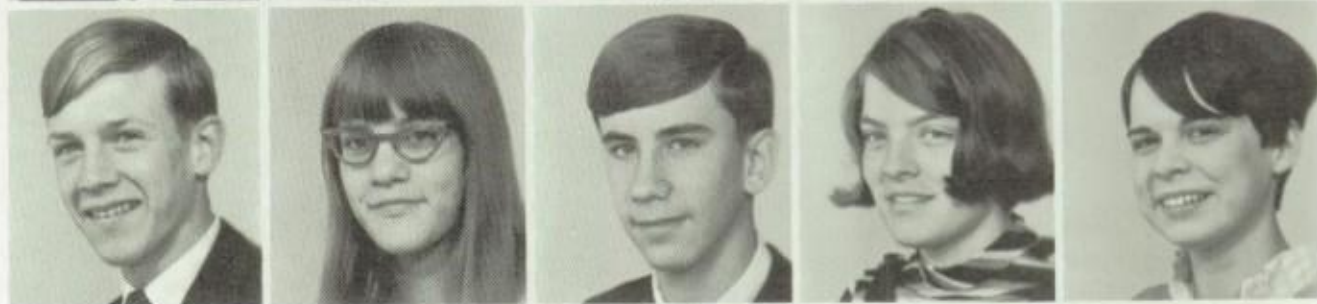

FRESHMAN CLASS officers are: Pres. Dave Baloun, Vice-Pres. Marilyn Pechowski, Treas. Judy Trok, and Sec. Dan Chambers.

Pathway To Success

This final page brings a close to the 1968 school year, but "Pathway to Success" doesn't end here. This continuing theme opens the doors to success for St. Joe students. Underclassmen continue to be a part of St. Joseph which in itself is a great accomplishment. As graduating seniors follow different paths, they uphold the traditions they attained in school, and such traditions are advantageous in any walk of life.

Every yearbook presents the highlights of the year. Hi-Way '68 has achieved this plus more; it has underlined the future. We feel certain that you will remember and continually enjoy the 1968 Hi-Way.

Marv
To a really great guy whom
I really admire
To one of the true Brains
in Eng. + Geo.
Good Luck!
Jim Mark Seeger

Marv
the one with the cards who likes to win money from the
and lose of course
Good Luck
Dan Jarvis

Marvin
So the best one in History class.
Keep the cards going!
Good luck always.
- Larry

Marve
That great Latin scholar. and card player
Good Luck
"May" 70

Marv:
To a cool kid
that would have had a swell party and machine
if he would have been elected!
Good luck. ... better I hope this Scotty

Maw
greatest gambler I know you're got to be the nuttiest kid in the sophomore class - Keep it Melvin - you'll go far
Reid

Mel:

To a great guy
and a great teacher - debater.

Dave Williams

Maw -
You're a great playboy - keep practicing. I wished you would've got an officer. You're great.
I'm proud to know you.

Bern
MRS. ROEDERER'S
FAVORITE SON

Maw (Sorry about that)
Do a good debater, I guess try not to be too hard on Berny!
